INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE FAILS

RAILROADS FACE BIG STRIKE

Brotherhoods Set Date Soon; Coal Miners Certain to Go Out, Says Lewis

Following is a summary of the latest developments in the industrial situation, presenting the most serious menace which the country has as yet been called upon to face.

1—President Wilson's industrial conference came to an end, the President realizing that it had hopelessly failed of its purpose. He requested the "public group" to continue its work and prepare a statement on the industrial situation.

2—Railroad Brotherhood officials plan to set a general strike date in November, which if carried out would affect 1,600,000 workers and tie up the entire rail traffic of the nation. This strike will be called if the demands of the workers are not granted by the Railroad Administration.

3—The coal strike will go through, according to John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, who announced today that

What the 'Dry Bill' Means

The war-time prohibition enforcement act, familiarly known as the "dry bill," has been sent to President Wilson for signature. As soon as it is signed strict laws for the enforcement of national prohibition take effect.

What are these laws? What do they mean to the ordinary private citizen? Can you make liquor in your own home? Can you transport liquor in your automobile if you have a supply on hand and wish to move?

These and scores of other questions dealing with the "dry" law enforcement are answered authoritatively in a "catechism" prepared by a federal agent at Washington and presented by the American today. If the "dry" era interests you, you will want to read the following:

Q.—Under the provisions of the act which permits one to possess liquor in his private dwelling for the personal use of the occupant and his family is there any limitation on the amount of liquor so held?

MAY STOCK FOR YEARS.

A.—No; nor on the time in which it is to be used. He may have a supply for fifteen years or longer, a lifetime, but all this liquor must have been obtained by the possessor before war prohibition went into effect.

Q.—The amount provided against the prospect of lasting drought may be, say, fifteen or twenty barrels of whiskey?

A.—It may be, so far as any specific provision in the act is concerned; as a matter of fact, that amount would

CRUISER SENT TO AID STEAMSHIP ON SHOALS

Washington, Oct. 23.—The U. S. S. San Francisco has been sent to the aid of the Shipping Board vessel Mayport, ashore off Shovelful Shoals, near Nantucket, the Navy Department announced today.

Late Cable Bulletins!

PARIS—Several hundred former American soldiers have enlisted in the Livonian army. An "American brigade" is to be formed to assist the Livonians in their fight against the Bolsheviki and Germans.

LONDON—Lord Curzon will soon succeed A. J. Balfour as foreign secretary, according to a report in circulation today.

LONDON—The British coal output is increasing, notwithstanding a reduction of working hours for the miners.

LONDON—A wave of diamond buying has struck England. West End jewelers report doing an extraordinary business in precious stones.

PARIS—There is famine of silver money in Paris, causing much inconvenience. The chief cause is said to be the smuggling of silver into Switzerland.

MAY SIGN 'DRY' BILL TODAY

Enforcement Measure Goes to Wilson; Strengthens Prohibitory Law

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Strict laws for the enforcement of wartime prohibition may become effective today.

Attorney-General Palmer today sent to the White House the wartime prohibition enforcement act which he has been studying. Dr. Grayson announced that he would not oppose the bill being presented to the President for his signature unless there was a change in the President's condition.

THE DEAN MYSTERY

How Kaiser's Spies Worked in New Hampshire

The first instalment of the Dean mystery contained the request of the murdered man in which he asked Mrs. Horace Morrison to secure a Department of Justice agent. Dr. Dean arranged with the woman to telephone her in case signal lights were seen on the mountain. The telephone message was never received by the woman, who went to Boston and conferred with the officials. The following day she read of Dr. Dean's murder and notified the Federal authorities. There was serious friction between the town officials and county and State authorities regarding the action to be taken, and between the Federal authorities and the county and State officers. The Selectmen of East Jaffrey and the majority of citizens seek the arrest and prosecution of two suspects.

Dr. William Kendrick Dean, victim of one of the strangest murders in the criminal annals of New England, lived with his wife in the very centre of a hotbed of German spy activities at East Jaffrey, N. H.

The Dean home is two miles from the village and is situated on one of the highest habitable hills in that section. The "Dean house," mentioned now with awe by the townspeople, can be seen for miles. It is one of the landmarks of the region.

The mysterious signals, flashed day and night from the frame-

'GAVE WIFE CYANIDE FOR CATS'

Wohlgemuth, on Trial for Her Death, Testifies in His Own Defence

Frank B. Wohlgemuth, testifying in his own defence today, said he didn't know the cyanide of potassium he obtained at the navy yard was poison. He took it home, he said, and gave it to his wife to prepare doses to kill off stray cats that were causing annoyance about their home. He saw it no more, he declared, until after her death, for which he is on trial.

The husband said that he procured the poison as the result of a conversation he had with John Dolan of Roxbury, a fellow employe, whom he had told about the cat nuisance. He went to "Mike" Connors in the tool room of the navy yard, he said, and asked him how much "cyd" he would need to kill a cat.

"Take a whole lot," was Connors' advice, he testified.

Wohlgemuth said that he took a piece about half the size of an egg. When he reached home, he said, his wife told him that she would fix it for the cats and he turned it over to her.

WENT TO CONFESSION.

On the evening before his wife's death, he said, he went to confession at the Catholic church they attended. Returning home he played cards for awhile and went to bed. He arose at 6 a. m. and attended mass one hour later. His wife, he said, arose later and attended the 10:15 mass.

While she was at church, he testified, he went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Katz, nearby, and obtained some epsom salts. When Mrs. Wohlgemuth returned home she said she was tired, he said, and threw her hat and coat on a chair.

The husband said he was thirty-four years old and was employed as helper on one of the heavy forges at the navy yard. He had previously been employed as a teamster for the Reliable Flour Company, he said.

COUPLE MET AT DANCE.

He was introduced to his wife at a dance, he told. They were married on April 12, 1913, by a justice of the peace, the ceremony being later solemnized in the Catholic church.

They lived at No. 68 Castle street and later moved to No. 159 Shawmut avenue.

FIVE FALSE WEIGHT DEALERS ARE FINED

Five dealers were found guilty of giving insufficient weights or using false scales, and fined an aggregate of $65 in the Roxbury Court today by Judge Palmer. Oscar Davis, of Washington street, for using false scales, paid $5; Abraham Lipsky, Blue Hill avenue, using false scales, $10; Patrick Seabury, Hillside street, Roxbury, insufficient weights and false scales, $10; Maurice Freedman, Blue Hill avenue, condemned scales, $10, and Joseph Magnet, garage, Walnut avenue, insufficient amount of gasoline, $10.

WOULD EXTEND SUGAR EQUALIZATION TERMS

Washington, Oct. 23.—Without licensing or embargo powers, government control of the sugar industry under the United States Sugar Equalization Board is extended until December 31, 1920, in a substitute bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Agriculture Sub-Committee that is investigating the sugar shortage.

TROOPS STONED IN GARY STEEL STRIKE RIOTING

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Homes of workmen who have returned to the steel mills during the last two or three days were stoned, the lives of their families endangered and five automobiles carrying Federal troops were pelted with bricks last night in Gary, Ind., according to word received here today.

STRIKERS HELP SAVE WOMEN

Former Policemen Figure In Thrilling Rescues at East Boston Blaze

Two striking policemen, formerly of the East Boston station, and a citizen rescued five women and seven small children from a smoke-filled tenement during a fire in a three-story wooden tenement on Maverick street, near the Narrow Gauge railroad station today.

Former Patrolmen Michael Hassey and William Farley, and James Willis of No. 117 Meridian street, made several trips into the blazing tenement, risking their lives in making their way to the top floor and continuing their task until they were positive everyone had been assisted from the tenement.

The fire was some distance from the nearest firehouse.

Hassey, Farley and Willis chanced to be passing the place when the fire was discovered by residents of the place. Several women ran screaming into the street. Dashing into the place, the three men found the lower floor nearly impassable with a dense, choking smoke. They plunged through the smoke and found three small children, one a nine-months-old baby. They carried the children to the street, where they were identified as Carmine Dellorfano, three years; Catherine Dellorfano, five years, and Josephine Dellorfano, nine months.

Making another trip to the now blazing tenement, through which the flames had spread with incredible speed, the rescuers mounted to the second floor, whence they rescued Mrs. Angelo Cresenzi, her three-year-old son Adam, and her fifteen-months old baby Ethel, and Mrs. Francis Imperado.

Then followed a trip to the top story. By this time the flames had forced their way through the entire building. The former officers and Willis assisted Mrs. Michael Tacono, and Mrs. Catherine Nicolano to the street, and carried down Mrs. Tacone's two children.

HOUSE TAKES UP TAGUE-FITZGERALD CONTEST

Washington, Oct. 23.—Leaders of the House of Representatives today decided to take up the Tague-Fitzgerald election case this afternoon. Fraud in the election is charged in the report of the majority of the committee, which recommends that Fitzgerald be unseated in favor of Peter F. Tague.

Bomb Exploded Under Tank Cars in Plot to Kill Steel Workmen

By International News Service.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23.—What is believed to have been an attempt to blow up a passenger train filled with workmen going to the steel mills at Monessen was made today when a bomb was exploded between two tank cars loaded with gasoline on a sidetrack near the Bellevernon station at the time when the train was scheduled to leave.

The train was several minutes late and the explosion did no serious damage. State police believe that those responsible for the blast thought the tank cars also would blow up. There is no clew to the perpetrators. Pieces of the tube found after the explosion showed it had come from one of the plants of the Pittsburgh Steel Products Company.

A piece of paper blown from the bomb proved to be a copy of an I. W. W. paper published in Cleveland last May.

The explosion is thought to be part of a plot to spread terror among workmen in the Upper Monongahela Valley. Yesterday a passenger in a street car at Bellevernon was shot in the eye.

President Declares Industrial Conference Has Come to an End

Washington, Oct. 23.—President Wilson himself today declared that the industrial conference which he had called to Washington had come to an end.

The President's decision not to attempt to keep the conference in session was expressed to the employers' group and the public group by Franklin K. Lane, chairman of the ill-fated conference.

Chairman Lane said it was the President's wish that the public group remain in session and prepare a statement for him in regard to the industrial situation in the United States.

The employers' group, who had offered to remain in the conference as long as the President desired, were told by the chairman that the President appreciated their courtesy, but that with labor absent from the conference the nature of the conference had changed.

Chairman Lane said:

"I must apologise to the conference for having been so late in calling it to order this morning. But I have been in communication with the President and have received a memorandum from him as to his desire regarding the conference.

"This body was called together primarily for the purpose of seeing if it was not possible to frame a platform upon which labor and capital co-operatively could work together. By the going out of the group of labor the nature of the conference necessarily has been changed because it has been impossible for labor and capital in this conference to work together and create a program upon which they can both stand.

"Therefore, it is President's desire that I should express to the gentlemen of the employers' group who have expressed their willingness to stay his desire that the nature of the conference itself should, because of the change of conditions, be changed, and that the work should be carried on by the public group inasmuch as the burden of these quarrels that exist in industry falls ultimately upon the public.

"It seems proper that the group representing the mass of the people at large should undertake to find that machinery by which there can be reconciliation or adjustment or peace or a way to solve any of these problems or all of them in the interests of the great body of our people, recognizing the fact that the people of the United States are greater than any part of the people—that we are first a body of Americans and as a body wish to move forward no matter what the clash between interests may be.

"And so, gentlemen, the public group will be asked to make a report and give advice and suggestion as to the industrial policy of this country, these to be presented to the President.

"Gentlemen, I announce now that this conference as at present constituted is adjourned."

What Do You Think of Slicing Up the Common?

How can Boston's congested traffic conditions be improved?

The biggest minds of the city are laboring over plans to quicken traffic along Tremont, Boylston, Park and Washington streets.

MINERS WILL STRIKE, SAYS J. L. LEWIS

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The coal strike will go through, John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared today after holding a conference with other leaders of the miners to consider the wage increase proposal made by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

"The strike order still stands," said Lewis, as he left the conference. "The strike will not be averted. We will reject the secretary's proposal as being inadequate to meet the demands of the miners. We will so inform him, but we will listen to what he has to say."

Lewis and other leaders were of the opinion that there is no chance now of concessions which would lead to negotiations. Lewis went into conference with Samuel Gompers to make plans for co-operation from the American Federation of Labor during the proposed strike.

An alliance between the coal miners and the railroad men for co-operative action in nationalizing the coal mines as well as the railroads is reported to be in the making.

A meeting will be held in Washington tomorrow between Lewis and other officers of the United Mine Workers of America and the presidents of the four railroad brotherhoods for this purpose.

Special significance is attached to the meeting at this time because of the threatened coal strike. The presidents of the brotherhoods say the miners asked for the meeting.

The recent convention of the miners in Cleveland declared for nationalization of the coal mines and other industries. The convention was addressed by Warren S. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and one of the Plumb plan leaders. An alliance between the miners and railroad men was suggested and the convention directed that a committee meet with the representatives of the brotherhood.

It is expected that the miners will work out a plan for the control of the mines on the order of the Plumb plan and their organization and the brotherhoods will combine resources in a campaign to bring about the nationalization of not only the railroads and mines but of all industries.

It is also stated today in labor circles that an alliance between the railroad men and the miners would mean co-operative action in industrial crises affecting either organization.

Trade Conference Is Warned of Plot to Oust All Governments

By International News Service.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 23.—Warning of a world-wide plot to overthrow existing governments and apply the torch of anarchy to all the nations of the world was given to the International Trade Conference here today by Eugene Schneider, chairman of the French delegation.

"It is no exaggeration," he said, "to state that there exists at the present time a radical plot, the network of which covers the entire world. Lenine has sent out into the world numerous agents, well equipped for their nefarious propaganda.

"At the close of the war, men have become too impatient. They demand immediate satisfaction of their uttermost desires. For five years the world has been out of gear. Yet these men pretend to be able to put it right in one day."

RECORD APPLE WEIGHS NEARLY TWO POUNDS

Lexington, Oct. 23.—The largest apple ever seen in this section is being exhibited at the barber shop of Robert W. Britton. It is a Wolf river, grown on the Pierce farm in Lincoln, tips the scales at one and three-quarters pounds, and measures seventeen inches in circumference.

Doughnuts-With-Hole Advocates Fight Berlin Style

A fight to keep the hole in the doughnut will be staged in Boston when the New England Bakers' Association assembles for its annual convention here next week.

A number of bakers favor eliminating the old-fashioned "sinker" and substituting one of filled design, which has long been popular in Germany. Others believe the kind with the hole should be retained, although it requires more work in the making.

Problems growing out of prohibition will also be presented to the bakers. One is the employment of several hundred pretzel twisters who have been without work since July 1. Another is the selection of a substitute for the wine and hard cider formerly used in fancy pastry.

ILLINOIS MEN URGE ON BIG UNION

By International News Service.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 23.—The Illinois State Federation of Labor today put itself on record as favoring "one big union in North America."

In a telegram sent to Samuel Gompers and the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, the Illinois federation asked that there be formed one big union in North America, comprising an alliance of all the international unions of the United States and Canada and the railroad brotherhoods, in order to "more effectively fight out the life and death struggle of the workers now in progress and pending."

The telegram suggests a conference of all representatives of labor in the United States and Canada.

The telegram followed discussion of the steel strike situation at today's meeting of the Illinois organization.

"The steel trust has thrown out the challenge, not only to labor, but to the government of the United States and the civilization of the world," the telegram stated. "With its associated corporations it threatens the existence of the American Republic, its institutions, ideals and traditions.

"In this unholy enterprise, the steel trust is but the pioneer of the associated money powers of the United States, who have chosen the present situation to wage a life and death fight with organized labor, uniting in its determination to release themselves from the only curb that stands between them and a renewed enlarged orgy of plunder to exact still more swollen profits from the exploited workers and consumers of this country."

BOY SUES PHYSICIAN FOR AUTO INJURIES

War days were recalled in the Superior Court at Dedham today when Dr. Edward P. White, a defendant in a civil action, and his counsel, Joseph Warren, appeared in court in their uniforms of the State Guard. Raymond Leafy, a minor, is suing Dr. White for injuries alleged to have been sustained when run down by the physician's auto in East Weymouth. The case is on trial before Judge Keating and a jury.

MAYOR HAS NEW PLAN TO CUT CITY'S PAYROLL

GENERAL STRIKE MAY BE SET FOR NOVEMBER

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Railroad brotherhood officials are planning to set a general strike date in November, it was stated at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks here today.

This strike date would be used in the event that the railroad administration fails to adjust the demands of the railroad workers for increased wages or fails to give assurance of better conditions when the railroads are returned to their private owners, it was said.

The strike date would affect 500,000 men of the four railway brotherhoods; about 600,000 from the railway shopmen's division; 200,000 maintenance of way employes, and 300,000 from the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

The railway shopmen's unions have been voting unanimously for a strike in November, it was declared at headquarters here. It was due to the efforts of the shopmen that the decision for the general strike date has come.

The Cummins railroad bill was favorably reported to the Senate this afternoon by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. The bill provides for the return of the railroads to their private owners thirty days after its passage. Provisions making strikes of railroad workers unlawful are included in the bill.

The question of increased wages for railroad workers will be settled by the government before the railroads are returned to their private owners, it was learned at the Railroad Administration offices today.

Director Hines plans to settle the question of wages satisfactorily before Federal control ends, in order that the railroads may go back to their owners without impending labor trouble. The first step in the final adjustment of railroad wages will come next Wednesday. At the time Director-General Hines will meet with W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Enginemen, and his committee, and present the report of the wage adjustment board. Lee has called a meeting of his committee to be held here next Tuesday.

Lee was optimistic today and said he believed a settlement of the wage question might be reached without serious difficulties, although he pointed out that the committee held full power to take any steps which might be necessary to secure their demands.

Director-General Hines will meet with the representatives of the railroad firemen and other railroad workers later.

ALLOW COPY IN PLACE OF LOST MORSE WILL

Judge Grant of the Suffolk Probate Court has allowed a copy of the will of Asa J. Morse, the original having mysteriously disappeared.

Mr. Morse, who was a bookkeeper and lived at No. 364 Athens street, South Boston, left his estate of several thousands of dollars to his sister, Mrs. Susan F. Ryder, who had resided with him for twenty-five years. Lillian F. Rankin, a niece, opposed the allowance of a copy of the will produced by the attorney who drafted the original document, and desired that the estate be declared intestate.

NEW CORPORATION TO FIGHT RENT BOOSTERS

New Bedford, Oct. 23.—Steps to provide more dwellings will be taken by the New Bedford Housing Corporation just organized here. The corporation is composed of sixty tenants who have been driven to seek new quarters by rent-boosting. It is capitalized at $100,000 and will immediately start the erection of 100 new houses.

RUPPRECHT TO FIGHT AGAINST SURRENDER

Geneva, Oct. 23.—Former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who was commander of the northern group of German armies on the west battlefront and who is included in the French list of war criminals, declares he will not surrender himself to the allies for trial, according to information received here today from Davos Furios, where he is living.

Rupprecht is charged with being the first German commander to use poison gas.

DRY BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT WILSON

to the White House Attorney-General Palmer made some recommendations to the President. While these recommendations have not been made public it is understood that they do not furnish grounds for any belief that the President will veto the bill. It is learned, however, that the Attorney-General has urged that certain amendments be asked by the President in order that the enforcement of the "dry" law may be more easily effected.

The "wet" spots still remaining in the United States will be immediately given a "dry cleaning," when the bill becomes effective, it was stated at the department of justice today.

The first drive will be made against 2.75 per cent. beer which is now being sold in many cities. The bill prohibits the sale of any beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent, of alcohol by volume.

A campaign against the many recipes for "home brews" and "kitchen kicks" will also be made by the department of justice. Under the law the sale of such recipes or their communication is unlawful and the many publishing houses dealing in such matter will be forced to destroy their stocks.

The home will be the only legal place for strong drinks, once the bill becomes effective. Under the terms of the law, liquors purchased before the law went into effect may be kept in the home for home use. Preparations have been made by the attorney-general to at once stop the illicit sale of liquor in surreptitious manner, a practice which has been allowed to continue without interruption in many cities.

nue. Before his marriage, he said, he lived with his parents in Charlestown, and it was there that his daughter, Ethel, was born.

Asked if he had always been a good provider at his home, he replied, "always."

The defendant admitted that on October 18, 1918, he went to a hospital for treatment, but told no one of his intentions beforehand. When his wife discovered where he was, he said she went to visit him, and after his discharge from the hospital they lived together regularly until the early part of this year.

Questioned as to whether he had ever assaulted his wife, Wohlgemuth replied in the negative. He admitted that they had an altercation on Christmas of last year because he objected to her going to Philadelphia.

"What did you say to her at that time?" his attorney asked.

"I said, 'Don't go or I won't live with you,'" he replied.

The husband said that he had objected to his wife's companionship with Mrs. Peterson.

GEN. SMITH'S DAUGHTER GIVES TABLET TO BANGOR

Bangor, Me., Oct. 23.—Miss Hortense L. Smith, daughter of the late General Joseph S. Smith, formerly commandant of the Togus Soldiers' Home, and later governor of the southern branch at Hampton, Va., has presented to the city of Bangor, their home for many years, a memorial tablet of her father. The inscription reads:

"To the memory of Joseph Sewall Smith, 1836-1919, Lieutenant-Colonel, Chief Commissary of Subsistence, Brevet Brigadier General, U. S. A. A faithful officer in the war which preserved the Union and destroyed slavery, his companions in arms of the Commandery of the State of Massachusetts of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion have here placed this tablet. STATE LAND TRANSFER TO SCHWAB FIRM STIRS QUINCY COUNCIL

TO DEMAND PROBE OF DEAL

Dollar-a-Year Transaction Means That Quincy Must Raise Taxes

Quincy is going to demand an investigation of the transaction by which State property on the waterfront at Quincy, valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, was turned over to the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at a rental of $1 a year.

An investigation will be demanded at the next meeting of the City Council of Quincy, Councillor Alexander W. Russell stated today. Councillor Russell said that he would introduce the resolution demanding an explanation of the deal.

The Council is aroused because with the land taken over by the State it becomes exempt from taxation and the tax rate on other property must be raised to provide the city's revenues.

"Poppycock," was the way Gustave B. Bates, ex-Mayor of Quincy and one of the heaviest taxpayers, characterized the statements by members of the Waterways Commission that the gift of the land to the Bethlehem Corporation for a dollar a year would be of great benefit to Quincy and surrounding territory on account of the development which would result.

"QUINCY CAUGHT ASLEEP."

"The Bethlehem company is not coming here through any love of Quincy or Massachusetts," he said. "They want that land because it is one of the best waterfronts on the Atlantic seaboard.

"Why shouldn't they make the improvements? They are the ones who will profit from them.

"I haven't heard of the State offering to help me with my business. Why should they help the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation?

"It looks to me like Quincy was caught asleep.

As early as 1912, said the ex-mayor, the commissioner of docks placed a value of $3 a square foot on waterfront with railroad facilities in the Boston harbor.

The land turned over to the shipbuilding concern at Quincy is one of the best sites for its purpose and at the entrance to Boston, he said. At the 1912 estimate, this property, which the corporation gets for $1 a year, is worth $2,743,900.

"We had twenty miles of the best waterfront in the country at one time," said Mr. Bates, "but it has been stolen from us. That which the Bethlehem Company didn't get has been gobbled up by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad."

LAND SEIZED BY STATE.

During the war, the Bethlehem Corporation was anxious to buy this land, but did not want to pay the price asked by the owners. The waterways commission then seized it by right of eminent domain and rented it to the shipbuilding firm at $5,000 a year. With passage of the war emergency measure the corporation again sought complete control in order to carry out plans for greater operations. The "dollar a year" deal was consummated last week, without publicity, when the Governor's Council approved it.

The Bethlehem Corporation will control the land on the Braintree side of Hayward's Creek, as well as that of Quincy through the Massachusetts Oil Refining Company. The land on both sides of the creek was taken under control by the waterways commission. The entire tract consists of ninety acres. The portion on the Quincy side was leased to the Bethlehem firm, and that on the Braintree side, consisting of twenty-two acres, was sold to the Massachusetts Oil Refining Company for $107,062.

The oil company is a subsidiary of the shipbuilding concern and ex-Congressman William S. McNary, a member of the State commission, admitted that the oil company's only object in buying the waterfront was to conduct its business with the shipbuilding firm.

DISCOUNT IMPROVEMENTS.

Through the action of the State Waterways Commission the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation now controls the entire waterfronts of Quincy and Braintree.

The commission sets forth the transaction as a case where each party to the contract gave something. But the residents of Quincy discount from the credit side of the balance the improvements to be made by the corporation, asserting that these should follow as a matter of course.

What the state gives and the expenditures of the Bethlehem Corporation are outlined as follows in a statement from the Waterways Commission:

Bethlehem Company, dredging 86,000 yards at 60 cents a yard $51,600; dredging 86,000 yards at 30 cents, $25,800; contribution to the construction of a bulkhead (from which the corporation will be the chief beneficiary), $50,000; displacement, $2,500; railroad construction, culverts, etc., $4,450.

State, rental of land released, eighteen years at $5,000 a year, $90,000; value of land under head house, dry dock and flats, $76,540.

The State expects to acquire 340,000 feet of new land from the filling operations of the corporation on which the Waterways Commission has placed a valuation of $34,000.

PLANS TO QUIZ SOCIETY FLOCK OF 'OOM'

New York, Oct. 23.—Prominent society women who attended the weird exercises at the Braeburn Country Club at Nyack, under the direction of Dr. Pierre A. Bernard, otherwise "Oom the Omnipotent," are to be questioned by Sheriff Merritt of Rockland County.

Sheriff Merritt said today every effort would be made to question Mrs. Ogden M. Mills and Mrs. Cyril Hatch, formerly Miss Barbara Rutherfurd, both daughters of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr.

The sheriff said his investigation would be rigid, and if there should be any evidence that a crime had been committed he would ask District Attorney Morton Lexow to present the facts to the Rockland County Grand Jury.

THANK AMERICAN.

Sheriff Merritt said the residents of Rockland County, and especially those of Nyack, were deeply thankful to the American for exposing the activities of "Oom," and the authorities would do all in their power to bring "the Loving Guru of the Tantriks" to justice if he had been guilty of any infraction of law.

Just what has become of "Oom" and Sister Beatrix, the former Episcopalian nun, is a mystery that the authorities hope to solve.

When the sheriff and his deputies examined the buildings and grounds yesterday they found a secret passage. It leads from the main club building under the Nyack road. Just what the passage was used for is one of the mysteries that the sheriff will attempt to clear up. Apparently it was recently built, and from the fact that it led outside the grounds it was supposed "Oom" might have had it constructed as an emergency exit.

SOCIAL RANK NO SHIELD.

Sheriff Merritt said the social position of many of those who attended the weird exercises of "Oom's" club would not prevent him from going to the bottom of the case.

After reviewing the activities of "Oom" in New York and his difficulties with the authorities, Merritt said it might develop that captives had been held at the club in Nyack just as there had been in this city.

Dr. Sartell Prentice, rector of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Nyack, Dr. A. Longley, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and the Rev. J. W. Crosby of St. Ann's Catholic Church, said yesterday they planned sharp action in order that the "cult" may be driven out of Nyack.

The three clergymen intend to visit District Attorney Swann, to tell him all they have learned regarding "Oom."

TWO BOLSHEVIK SHIPS SUNK, 350 DEAD

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 23.—Three hundred and fifty lives were lost when two Bolshevik cruisers were sunk off Kronstadt, said a Central News dispatch from Helsingfors today. The dispatch says:

"The Bolsheviks report that two cruisers were lost off Kronstadt when they ran into mines. Three hundred and fifty perished."

(The British Admiralty announced the sinking of two Bolshevik warships near Kronstadt yesterday.)

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIM GAINS.

The following official statement from the Bolshevik government was received by wireless from Moscow today:

"We have severely checked General Yudenitch's army and have made an advance over the entire front."

The Bolshevik troops are being massed in the vicinity of Petrograd for defence of the city and a great battle with General Yudenitch's "White" army is impending, the London War Office announced this afternoon.

Supplies are being rushed up to the front on the Yamburg railway for use by General Yudenitch's forces. General Yudenitch's cavalry, after wrecking railways, was recalled to the battle line, which now runs south of Ligovogorlova, west of Gatchina and west of Pavlovsk, said dispatches from the fighting zone.

General Yudenitch's centre is now advancing eastward of Duga, meeting strong resistance from the Bolsheviki.

LETTS ADVANCING.

The Lettish army fighting the Russo-German forces of General Von Der Goltz and Colonel Bermondt, is advancing, supported by British and French warships, said an official communique of the Lettish government received from Riga today.

Russo-German forces near Mitau have begun plundering the country and are said to be under orders to shoot any Letts of military age who may fall into their hands, the dispatch adds. Sixty prisoners were said to have been shot at Riga. The dispatch continues:

"Arrangements are being made to feed the population of Petrograd, which is starving, if the city is taken from the Reds. It is estimated this will cost $4,000,000 daily. Herbert Hoover, who is now in the United States, has been notified to expect immediate action by the American Relief Commission. The American mission is the only hope of the people in Northeastern Russia, the other missions being chiefly political in character. Already the Americans are feeding 60,000 children daily in Lettland."

LONG WAS ONLY MAN AT MRS. PARKER'S

Officer Had Arrested Much for Drunkenness on Night Mrs. Broadwell Met Death

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 23.—That George A. Long, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Lucina C. Broadwell of Barre, had a chance to be alone with Mrs. Isabel Parker and the Broadwell woman at the time when it is alleged that the crime was committed, was intimated today, when it was testified that Alexander Much, the only other lodger at the Parker house, could not have been present as he was in jail for drunkenness.

Mrs. Parker, who, with Long, was in Mrs. Broadwell's company, according to the statement, is awaiting trial in the Washington County Jail, on the same charge that faces Long.

William Jenkins of Barre was the first witness called today. On Sunday morning, May 4, he was at the Wheelock garden, where Mrs. Broadwell's unclothed body had just been found. Leaving the garden he repaired to police headquarters, where he was when Irving Smith arrived with information as to having seen the "murder car." When Smith left the police station, the witness accompanied him.

SAW AUTO TRACKS.

As they were passing along Keith avenue, directly opposite the spot where the Broadwell woman's body had been discovered, Smith drew his attention to certain automobile tracks running in the direction of Summer street. They followed these tracks to Summer street and along that thoroughfare to Elm street.

An exhaustive cross-examination by Attorney Carver left the essential details of Jenkins' story intact. He was questioned as to his reason for going to the police station and replied that his object was "to see if there was anything new."

The testimony of Henry Gamble of the Barre police force eliminated Alexander Much from any connection with the crime. Much was Long's only fellow lodger at Mrs. Parker's rooming house. Gamble stated that somewhat after 10 o'clock on the night of Saturday, May 3, he came upon Much in the street. Much was in an intoxicated condition, and the witness escorted him to the police station, where he was detained until late the following day.

CLEARS UP MYSTERY.

Up to the time of Gamble's testimony the whereabouts of Much on the murder day had not been accounted for.

William T. Shaudroul, of Barre, whose grocery is located opposite the Parker house on South Main street, was the next witness. He was acquainted with Long, who had visited his place of business on numerous occasions. He recalled having first seen the defendant some time in April.

Long had entered his store on the night of the murder between 10 and 11 o'clock. The defendant purchased devilled ham, a veal loaf, a loaf of bread and a jelly roll. Mrs. Shaudroul, the witness' mother, sold these articles to the defendant. Between 11:30 o'clock and midnight the witness drew the curtains of his store. Thereafter he waited on two more customers and about 12:30 left with his mother for home.

MET JAMES R. McKAY.

They encountered James R. McKay as they were on their way, witness said. They arrived home at 1:05 a. m. on Sunday morning.

Arthur C. Tilden, who made tests of the time required for an automobile to run from the Parker house to the Wheelock garden, stop there for five minutes, and return, was next called to the stand. He told how long it took a car to make the trip first at 15, then at 20, and finally at 25 miles an hour. The trip occupied eleven and one-half minutes at the lowest of these three speeds, with a consequent decrease in running time as the speed of the machine was increased.

Cross-examination established the fact that Detective Brown of a Boston agency was also in the car which made the tests.

SAW AUTO AT PARKER HOUSE.

Mrs. Barbara Ranney of Barre told of having attended a silver wedding on the night of May 3, and on the way home at midnight noticing a small automobile in front of the Parker house. The machine displayed no lights, nor was anyone working on it. The time was about midnight.

Mrs. Robert Much corroborated the story of Mrs. Ranney.

HOUSEBREAKERS ARE BUSY IN BROOKLINE

Third Robbery in Three Days Is Reported by Harry Swartz

Housebreakers, apparently professional, are preying upon Brookline residences with a measure of success which is reaching alarming proportions. Today it was learned that the third robbery in as many days had been committed at the home of Harry Swartz, No. 120 Fuller street.

Every room in the house was entered and its contents thoroughly examined by the discriminating prowler. That which was of comparatively little value was left behind, while the valuable and easily disposed of articles, worth at least $1,500, went with him.

The members of the Swartz family had left the house soon after dinner and were absent until about 9 o'clock last night, when they returned to find the house in a chaotic condition. Indications were that their return frightened the thieves away, for the back door was open and one or two articles of value were found close at hand.

Entrance was gained by forcing a kitchen window. Bureau drawers were pulled open and their contents scattered about. Two diamond rings, a set of blue fox furs, silverware and a handbag were among the articles taken.

GETS $18,531 FOR LAND SEIZED BY THE STATE

A verdict of $18,531 was awarded to Frank F. Patch of Quincy, who sued the Commonwealth for [illegible] feet of land taken by the State. This land, which was known as the Meadowbrook Ice Company land, was seized and turned over to the Fore River Ship Company. Patch appealed to the court to have the damages assessed. The case was tried in the Superior Court at Dedham.

AFTER LEADERS IN WHISKEY GRAFT PLOT

Three Federal Agents Under Arrest in New York; Accused of "Selling" Immunity

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 23.—The arrest of "men higher up" is expected soon in a wholesale graft plot by which saloon and cafe owners here are said to have bought immunity to sell whiskey in defiance of the law.

William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, who uncovered the conspiracy, is continuing his investigation.

Fives arrests had been made today, the men being Richard Yancey, Morton P. Allen, William J. Folling, Pasquale Pignoule and Charles F. McCarver. The last three are government agents.

Yancey and Allen were held in $5,000 bail and Folling and Pignoule in $2,500. McCarver, who was arrested as he was about to board a train for Nashville, Tenn., will be arraigned later.

John Minton, Jr., special government prosecutor, declared that enormous sums of money had been paid by liquor dealers for protection.

"A large number of witnesses have been summoned for the Grand Jury," declared Mr. Minton. "Liquor has been sold promiscuously in New York, but that is all over. The lid will now be clamped down as it never has been before in this city. There will be no more buying and selling of immunity."

More than forty saloon keepers, restaurants and hotel owners are involved, according to the authorities. Yancey & Allen were said by Mr. Minton to be the leading spirits of the conspiracy. They lived in luxurious apartments in the Commodore Hotel, where they gave lavish entertainments.

Tartar on Teeth

Shows That You Don't Clean Them—Note These Facts

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

This is to men and women who find that brushed teeth discolor and decay. Who find that tartar forms, or pyorrhea starts. You are not keeping teeth clean. You let a film remain and the damage is traced to it.

Dental science has found a way to end film. It is now embodied in a dainty tooth paste which millions are employing. We urge you to try it ten days at our cost and see the results for yourself.

That Film on Teeth
Can Now Be Ended in This Way

You can feel on your teeth a slimy film, ever-present, ever-forming. That film is the great tooth wrecker. Dental science now traces nearly all tooth troubles to it.

The film clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So millions find that teeth discolor and decay despite the daily brushing.

Why Teeth Discolor

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Dental science, after years of searching, has found a way to combat film. Many able authorities have proved its efficiency. For five years it has been subjected to every sort of clinical and laboratory test.

Now, for home use, it is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Leading dentists all over America are now urging its adoption. This week we offer a 10-Day Tube to anyone who asks. And we urge that someone in every home prove its unique effects.

Based on Pepsin

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. Dental science has now discovered a harmless activating method. And now everyone can fight the film with active pepsin constantly.

See What It Does

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Use like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Watch the results and read the reason for them. Compare this new method with the old. Then adopt for yourself and have your children adopt the method which seems best. This is of lifetime importance to you. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

Look Now

That film, to some extent, clouds nearly every set of teeth. And most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Look in Ten Days

See how the teeth whiten—how they glisten—as the fixed film disappears. Then you will know there is a way to cleaner, safer teeth.

HUGE MUNITIONS FRAUD WILL BE CHARGED

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The congressional sub-committee which for the past week has been investigating the $27,000,000 munition contract of the Standard Steel Car Company of Hammond, Ind., left for Washington today to present evidence to the House of Representatives on which it is predicted the government will base civil suits to recover between $13,000,000 and $15,000,000 from the company involved and start criminal prosecution of a dozen or more army officers and civilians.

Congressman William J. Graham, chairman of the sub-committee, before leaving for Washington, said:

"The sub-committee is satisfied that the government is the victim of a gigantic fraud on this contract. Our report will ask that several army officers, members and aids of the Chicago district claims board and officials of the Standard Steel Car Company, be prosecuted under the Federal criminal code for abetting a fraud against the government in wartime."

The report of the sub-committee to the House of Representatives will charge:

"That the government spent $27,127,628 on the contract and received 200 gun carriages that were to have cost $40,000 each, or a total of $8,000,000.

"Not a gun carriage was finished before the end of the war. None ever carried a gun until after the armistice.

"Settlement of the claim was made in record time, and under unusual conditions.

"A final award of $2,000,000 as a last portion of the $27,000,000 total was made to the corporation, the claim settled and the check paid within three days, a record-breaking procedure as regards war contracts.

"Many items in the claim which were accepted by the claims board were never audited by the government.

"The government was overcharged on sub-contracts.

"Army officers received automobiles and other valuable presents from sub-contracting companies."

LONG'S ATTACK ON COOLIDGE ANSWERED

The Republican State Committee issued the following today:

"In his speech at Greenfield on October 21, Candidate Richard H. Long, who had charged Governor Coolidge the night before with deserting his post of duty, again charged him with the same offence in the following language:

"'Where was Governor Colidge on the night of the police strike and the day following? He was in seclusion far away from the scene of trouble, safely beyond the reach of those interested in the serious situation, hiding away on the western side of the Connecticut river.'

"If he had been any part of a man he would have stayed in Boston, this great hero, and protected the people of the city."

"THE ANSWER:

"Sunday, September 7—Boston. Rode to his home in Northampton in auto.

"Monday, September 8—A. M. Went to Greenfield. Addressed State convention of A. F. of L. Lunch at Greenfield. Telephoned Boston. To Boston by auto. Called office from Fitchburg about 5 o'clock p. m. Conferred with Mayor Peters at Adams House. Evening, conferred with Mayor and others at Union Club.

"Tuesday, September 9.—At office, State House. Sent letter to Mayor. P. M. conferred with Mayor and Edwin U. Curtis, Police Commissioner, at Governor's office and offered to call Guard when requested. He agreed with Mayor and Commissioner that they would let him know when to act. This was late in the afternoon. Remained at his hotel all night, with Adjutant-General, subject to call. Mayor co-operated in every way.

"Wednesday, September 10.—A. M. at office. At once offered Mayor to call out State Guard. Called out Guard at Mayor's reqest. Met Council, as usual. Guard came in afternoon and went on street. The Governor was at office, as usual, and has been all the time except when ill.

"The Attorney-General of Massachusetts was of the opinion that the Governor could not call out the State Guard unless so requested by the Mayor, or in the event of actual tumult, riot, or mob, or when such tumult, riot, or mob is threatened, neither of which was apparent up to 6 o'clock the night of the walkout, Tuesday, September 9."

Telephone Girls at Front Will Get $100 Bonus

Telephone girls on the army roster during the war will receive the $100 bonus.

This decision was announced today by the State Treasurer's office, following the receipt of a communication from the Attorney-General that the girls who served in the war were on the same status as any field clerks and, therefore, are "soldiers" entitled to receive the gratuity.

About forty-two operators will benefit from this decision. They were the Bay State's part of the 300 from all New England. Many were near the battlefront during hostilities.

ASKS ALLEN TO DEBATE ON WAR CONTRACTS

Richard H. Long, Democratic candidate for Governor, in an open letter to J. Weston Allen and all other Republicans, calls on them to secure from their Washington committee a list of contracts suspended or cancelled. Mr. Long said he would then be pleased to hold a public discussion with Mr. Allen or anyone he might name.

In the same connection, Mr. Long gave out a letter from George F. Smith, of the Smith & Dove Manufacturing Company, Andover, a Republican, who was one of the most important officials of the government having to do with army contracts during the war, according to the writer.

The letter follows:

LETTER TO ALLEN.

"Open letter to Mr. J. Weston Allen and all other Republicans.

"Mr. J. Weston Allen, Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

"Dear Mr. Allen—As you are apparently representing the Republican organization in this campaign and are much interested in our contracts, will you please get from your Washington committee a list of the contracts that were suspended or cancelled, with the amount of each contract and the price at which they were taken by each contractor, and I shall be pleased to meet you or anybody you name and have a public discussion on the matter. I will at that time explain to the public the method of settlement of army contracts that were suspended or cancelled.

"The distorted information that you have put out and are attempting to put out to the public is a part of the most contemptible political campaign that was ever carried on in the State of Massachusetts.

"If you and the friends of Governor Coolidge decline or are afraid to accept this invitation to discuss our contracts at a meeting which can be properly advertised, I shall be pleased to have you discuss them with me at the meetings which I shall hold from now until the election.

"Very truly yours,
"RICHARD H. LONG."

SMITH'S LETTER TO LONG.

Mr. Smith's letter to Mr. Long follows:

"Mr. R. H. Long, Framingham, Mass.:

"Dear Mr. Long—In a spirit of fair play and entirely aside from politics, I am glad to endorse your statement concerning your war contracts which appeared in Monday morning's papers.

"From my personal knowledge as a member of the Clothing and Equipage Division of the Quartermaster Corps in Washington, I know that your war contracts were entered into after either formal or informal competition. I also know that the service you gave was most satisfactory, that you were instrumental in reducing the cost to the government on many articles and that several times when a shortage existed by reason of delayed deliveries from other contracts you took on extra work and rushed it through, regardless of cost.

"Sincerely yourh.
"GEORGE F. SMITH."

FARMERS' "GOOD BOY" RUNS AWAY WITH $200

Timothy Murphy, a Newton farmer, today told Chief of Police Mitchell that a boy, fifteen years old, who gave his name as Francis Nolan and said he ran away from his home in Newburyport, was at his place and that he would like to keep him, as he was a good boy. The chief said it to the station, so that everything

later Murphy was again on the chief's wire.

"I can't bring him, chief," he said. "He is gone and also $200 in cash which I had in the house."

Ages 7 to 17

Tom Brown Leatherized

All wool SUITS $15 to $25

Elbows, pockets, seats, knees, lined with soft flexible chamois

The first suit ever made which recognizes that the cloth in a boy's suit wears out from inside strain (like the stretching of knees and elbows) as well as from outside knocks.

The chamois lining at the points of most wear protects the suit from BOTH inside strain and outside knocks; with reinforced seams, extra mending cloth and buttons, in ADDITION.

A continual stream of them—selling out; new ones pouring in as fast—

Tom Brown boys' wash suits, $4.50 Plain colors and stripes. Middy, ages 3 to 10; Junior Norfolk, 5 to 10; Short Russian, 3 to 8.

THINK TRAFFIC PROBLEM IS FOR POLICE

Many Readers Declare Reinstatement of Strikers Would Set Things Right

The problem of relieving traffic congestion in Boston has brought forth the following suggestions from readers of the Boston American:

WANTS FOUR-WAY STREETS.

Traffic Editor, Boston American: My solution to your traffic problem relative to Tremont and Boylston streets no doubt has been proposed before, but there is nothing like giving it a trial. Why not have four-way streets instead of one? Elevated sidewalks would give merchants a chance to make a double display. Get rid of the many poles on the sidewalk, and I believe it can be carried out. L. F. F.

Chicopee Falls.

WOULD LEAVE IT TO POLICE.

Traffic Editor, Boston American: If at any time Tremont from Boylston street to Court street was made a one-way street, inside of three months a score of our leading business houses would have to close.

The police force has always taken excellent care of the traffic at Tremont and Boylston streets and all other streets of Boston, until the police strike. I have had the pleasure of seeing every police department in every capital city of the United States, Canada and a few of the leading cities of Europe, and the Boston police department comes first. So in order to bring Boston back to its normal condition I would suggest that Police Commissioner Curtis reinstate all of the union policemen that walked out on strike. And if the commissioner does not reinstate the striking policemen he should be asked to resign by the Governor. Just as soon as the police get back on the job, which I firmly hope will be soon, Boston will be Boston once more. JAMES G. HAYES.

Dorchester.

ANOTHER POLICE SOLUTION.

Traffic Editor, Boston American: The only way I think of solving the traffic problem would be to put back the striking policemen. We never had such a condition as now, with them all off the ob. We know they are sorry and realise in a way they were wrong, but even a criminal is given a chance, so I say give them a chance and see how quickly conditions will improve.

Winchester. A READER.

HAS FAITH IN POLICE.

Traffic Editor, Boston American: The one grand solution of the traffic tangle, in mp belief as a reader, and also as a close observer of present conditions in the citp of Boston, is, put the good red-blooded servants of the people back on the job again, namely, the police of Boston who are at present on strike, and you will see how soon this deplorable condition will be straightened out.

We all saw how they handled the situation in the Boston Elevated strike. Can you imagine what would happen if we had that situotion to deal with now, saying nothing of conditions at present.

A CONSTANT READER.

Boston.

WANTS ELEVATED STREETS.

Traffic Editor, Boston American—Elevated streets on Tremont and Washington streets, between Boylston and School streets, with bridges approached by incline planes over all crossings, would certainly help much in relieving congestion in traffic in this section. The expense of policemen on these crossings would be eliminated.

F. BRADLIE ABBOT.

Sharon.

Traffic Editor, Boston American:

For a relief of traffic conditions in Boston, my first and most candid suggestion is, put back the policemen who grew up with Boston, and made it the city it is today. There is where the traffic problem lies.

I am with the merchants and the backers of old Boston Common against any changes of either. Ask our million-dollar Mayor where that direct road from Postoffice square is? This $30,000 a a day for the guardsmen would have built four or five grand streets in our squeezed-up city. It is his city while he is Mayor, and men like our Mayor and Governor, who are highly educated, seem to be ignorant as to the real value of our striking policemen.

This is the only way to relieve traffic conditions in Boston today. The present traffic squad is the laughing stock of every chauffeur and teamster in the city.

A REAL TRAFFIC TRAVELER.

A Simple, Guaranteed Method

If you would like to lose, weekly, from one to five pounds of burdensome fat while eating and drinking all you need, also enjoying life far better than at present, just follow this advice:

Take seven deep breaths of fresh air each morning and evening; after each meal take a little oil of korein; eat all you need, but chew thoroughly, and follow other simple directions of the guaranteed Korein system.

Men and women who were waddling around with heavy, sluggish bodies have, in many cases, reported a gradual, agreeable, reduction of thirty to eighty pounds, with wonderful benefit to health and figure. This very season is the time to become slender, attractive, vivacious and healthier, very easily. Get oil of korein at the druggist's; it comes in capsules, convenient to use and is now sold at before-war low price. Weigh and measure yourself week to week. You can scarcely realize the joy that awaits you in normal symmetrical figure, with good health and longer life. Show others this advertisement.

Asks Pension for York; Worshipers Prevent His Earning Living

Washington, Oct. 23.—Sergeant Alvin C. York of Tennessee, the greatest hero of the World War, has no time to work for a living because he is visited "too much," declared Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, when he appeared before the House Military Affairs Committee and asked that York be made a second lieutenant and be placed on the army retired list.

"The retirement pay would enable him to live," said Representative Hull. "He is now the target for every auxiliary service of the army and patriotic society in the country, demanding his presence to assist in various works and celebrations."

CHINA LEADS FOREIGN REGISTRATION AT TECH

Thirty-four foreign countries are represented in the registration at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this Fall, according to figures from Walter S. Humphreys, registrar. A total of 203 students over at the Cambridge institution hail from outside the United States.

The largest number from any one country is thirty-nine, from China, but this is a falling off of about 5 per cent. from the registration of Chinese in former years. Norway has moved up to second place this year, having thirty-five students. Third on the list is Canada, which has thirty-two, an increase of 200 per cent. over last year. Mexica has nine, Russia seven, Chile seven, Colombia six.

BROOKLINE MAN TAKES BRIDE IN WINCHESTER

Miss Anne Donahue, daughter of Mrs. Anna Donahue of No. 255 Highland avenue, Winchester, was married at a nuptual mass in St. Mary's Church, Winchester, today, to Arthur J. Caulfield, real estate dealer and son of Edward J. Caulfield of Brookline. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles A. Donahue of Stoneham, brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. Michael Driscoll of Boston, Rev. Timothy J. Donovan of Boston and Rev. Joseph Burke, of Allston. William E. Caulfield of Brookline was best man and Miss Leonora C. Collins of Hudson was bridesmaid.

PRINCETON NOW HAS TEN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

In memory of ten Princeton graduates who were killed during the war, an equal number of scholarships have been established in that university, according to a statement by Henry B. Thompson, chairman of the Princeton Endowment Fund Committee. The funds provided for these scholarships will be accounted as a portion of the endowment fund of $14,325,000 which the university is now raising. The scholarships will be granted by competitive examination open to men from all parts of the country.

ARCHER SEEKS SUPPORT FOR TARIFF BILL

Proposes Measure to Raise Revenue and to Reorganize Commission

Samuel B. Archer, secretary and treasurer of the Tariff Commission League, and father of the Federal Reserve Bank idea, is in Boston to obtain support for a bill to raise revenue, reorganize the tariff commission and other purposes.

This bill, said to be indorsed by 95 per cent. of the voters of the country, will be introduced by Mr. Archer into Congress early in December. It is proposed to put a copy into the hands of every voter.

Mr. Archer has served for many years as secretary and treasurer of the Tariff Commission League, the motto of which is: "Take the Tariff Out of Politics."

According to Mr. Archer, the proposed bill makes protection a principle of the government and not a party policy.

He says: "It gives American producers a legal right to a duty fully equal to the difference in the cost of production between this and any foreign country, and establishes a court or commission elected by the commercial, manufacturing, agricultural and labor organizations of the country with all the powers of a court of equity to hear the evidence and declare what the duties shall be without going to Congress. The arranging of schedules by a commission under this bill would be purely judicial and in no manner legislative, therefore there would be no question about its constitutionality.

"Under this bill, changes could be made from time to time, on one or more schedules, as conditions required without tearing the whole system to pieces or unsettling business. Another strong point in favor of this bill is that it would put each industry upon its own merits and there would be no chance for compromise."

FOGGY?

If Bilious, Constipated or Headachy take "Cascarets."

Tomorrow the sun will shine for you. Everything will seem clear, rosy and bright. Your system is filled with liver and bowel poison which keeps your skin sallow, your stomach upset, your head foggy and aching. Your meals are turning into poison, gases and acids. You cannot feel right. Don't stay bilious or constipated. Feel splendid always by taking Cascarets occasionally. They act without griping or inconvenience. They never sicken you like Calomel, Salts, Oil or nasty, harsh pills. They cost so little, too—Cascarets work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

BANDITS HOLD U. S. CONSUL FOR RANSOM

Washington Warns Carranza Drastic Action Will Be Taken to Obtain Release

Washington, Oct. 23.—William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mexico, was kidnaped on the night of October 17 by three masked bandits and is now being held by them for a ransom of 300,000 pesos, about $150,000, according to a statement issued by the State Department. The information to the Department comes through diplomatic channels.

The American embassy at Mexico City has been authorized to declare that the American government will take swift and drastic action to obtain the release of Jenkins. The embassy is ordered to dispatch members of its suite at once to Puebla.

The State Department declares Mr. Jenkins was abducted from a factory which he owns in Puebla. The bandits, who declared themselves "rebels," knocked down the consular agent, bound and gagged the watchman and decamped with the agent and 60,000 pesos which they took from a safe they cracked.

Then came the message to Mrs. Jenkins declaring her husband was held in ransom.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—William O. Jenkins, connected with the American consulate at Puebla, Mexico, has been kidnaped by Mexican bandits and is being held for ransom, according to word received here by John Jenkins, wealthy Hanford rancher, and father of Jenkins. Miss Annie Jenkins, a sister of the kidnaped man, telegraphed news of the affair to her father from Puebla. According to the dispatch, Jenkins was seized Sunday night and taken away, presumably to some mountain stronghold of the bandits.

EXPECT LAW WILL PUT MORE SUGAR ON MARKET

Washington, Oct. 23.—Large quantities of sugar will be placed on the market as the result of the fixing of the price on beet sugar and the going into effect of the anti-profiteering bill, it is stated at the Department of Justice. Attorney-General Palmer has received notice from 90 per cent of the beet sugar producers indorsing his action in declaring a price of 10 cents a pound to wholesalers to be a fair price for beet sugar.

SUES BOSTONIAN FOR ALLEGED THEFT OF LOVE

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 23.—Percy Alexander of Boston, employed as a paymaster by the Aberthaw Construction Company, at work on the Jackson Mills, has been made the defendant in a $5,000 alienation suit filed by Adelard Duchesneau, in which the latter alleges that his wife, Amelia, left him October 16 and that Alexander was the cause. Alexander denies that he knows either Duchesneau or his wife.

"ENOUGH COAL IN GROUND IF WE CAN GET IT OUT"

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 23.—Frank S. Peabody, a Chicago coal operator, told the delegates to the international trade conference here that there is enough coal in the ground to supply the world's needs provided it can be gotten out and handled. "It is well to realize the grave danger confronting this country in the question of production," he said. "There is coal enough provided there are railroads to move it to tidewater, loading facilities and ships and credit."

PARIS TO MELBOURNE FLIER FORCED TO LAND

Paris, Oct. 23.—Etienne Poulet, French aviator, who is attempting a flight from Paris to Melbourne, Australia, has been compelled to land at Valona, Albania, because of bad weather, says a dispatch from Rome. Poulet was engaged on the leg of his flight from Rome to Salonika when he was forced down.

IDENTIFY REMAINS OF LAWRENCE AUTO VICTIM

Lawrence, Oct. 23.—The remains of the man who met his death through an automobile accident on Elm street, Andover, Sunday night are positively identified as those of John H. Abercrombie of Ballardvale. Suffering fatal injuries, he was taken to the hospital and listed as "Martin J. Burke," because of a letter in his pocket.

WOBURN REPUBLICAN CONDEMNS HECKLING

City Treasurer Samuel Highley of Woburn, a strong Republican and an enthusiastic supporter of Governor Coolidge, has sent a letter to the Republican State committee protesting the actions of J. Weston Allen in "heckling" Richard H. Long, Democratic candidate for Governor.

Referring to the heckling by Allen of Long at Woburn recently he said the Woburn incident was a disgraceful occurrence.

PLAYGROUNDS OF CHELSEA ARE INADEQUATE

More Than 100 Boys in Care of Probation Officers As a Result

The fact that Chelsea's three playgrounds are not kept in condition and that the room they afford is inadequate to give the youth of Chelsea opportunity for organized play, is given as one reason why more than 100 boys are now in the care of probation officers of the Chelsea Court.

If, instead of having to take their choice between playgrounds which are really more like ash-dumps and the streets, the children could have well-supervised playgrounds, Chelsea citizens believe there would be a marked decrease in the number of juvenile court cases. It is said, however, that the financial condition of the city treasury will not permit an expenditure for playgrounds.

As conditions are, say prominent citizens, the coming business men and citizens of Chelsea have to seek their recreation in the public streets. They have no organized play, such as has been so successful in developing the youth of Newton and other places, and there is no supervision over their companionship.

The net result, say these citizens, is the influx of small boys to the court, where they are charged with offences ranging from minor misdemeanors to breaking and entering.

In most instances the boys look upon even serious crimes as pranks. In but one case has there been real intent to commit larceny, officials state. That particular case was investigated by the mother of the small offender, who ordered her son to steal from the Boston & Maine freight yards all the coal he could, an order which he carried out to the letter.

Officials and citizens say that properly equipped playgrounds should be established in the Mill Hill and Hallow sections of Chelsea, where the children are without any place to enjoy themselves in play.

High Grade Fireless Cookers

No Guesswork
No Worry
No Preheating of Foods

Our stock of High Grade Fireless Cookers and equipment is complete and is filling the ideal wants of many a home by way of more satisfactory cooking.

Have you the mistaken idea that—a Fireless Cooker will only cook certain foods—is hard to care for—or makes less tasty and perfect foods?

A visit to our Fireless Cooker Section will quickly dispel any such erroneous belief. We can show you how all foods may be perfectly cooked.

The time usually spent in cooking over a stove may be spent in other profitable ways, for our Cookers do away with watching, basting, turning, or stirring.

The foods weigh the same when cooked as before, and in addition to getting these properly cooked foods and additional spare time for yourself, you save about 80% in fuel.

If you wish to see meat, bread, cake, fruits and vegetables deliciously cooked in this scientific way, attend one of our daily demonstrations in Fireless Cooking.

LIQUOR IS SAFE IN PRIVATE HOMES IF OWNER DOES NOT SELL IT

CAN BE TRANSPORTED IF OWNER HAS PERMIT

"Guest" May Get a Drink at Neighbor's Table

Q.—Will there be any way for a man legally to get a drink who has not provided liquor in his dwelling for his personal use?

A.—Only one; the person who has put in a supply for the use of himself and family—and this must have been done before the wartime prohibition went into effect on July 1—may serve a guest. The law reads, "bona fide guests when entertained by him therein."

Q.—Suppose the "guest" should be served so much that he would appear on the street later showing signs of intoxication, would there be any penalty for this?

A.—None under the act, but numerous States have laws that bear on this, and the federal act does not affect those State laws on prohibition which are not in conflict with it.

Q.—When a person has liquor in his home and charges are brought that liquor was not lawfully "acquired, possessed and used," upon whom shall the burden of proof be?

arouse suspicion as to whether the owner and his family could personally use so many barrels of liquor even in the course of a long lifetime. Anything above four or five barrels would probably look suspicious, but such cases would be determined by the circumstances surrounding, and no standard may be fixed in advance. There are numerous instances where men have provided themselves for personal use two or three barrels of whiskey. There is no intention to go into a reputable man's house and examine just how many barrels—just how much liquor—he has. Government agents will go in only on strong evidence that existing laws are being violated—that is, say, strong grounds for believing that the liquor is being sold on the premises, or being sent away from the premises to be sold.

MAY SERVE A GUEST.

Q.—Will there be any way for a man legally to get a drink who has not provided liquor in his dwelling for his personal use?

A.—Only one; the person who has put in a supply for the use of himself and family—and this must have been done before the wartime prohibition went into effect on July 1—may serve a guest. The law reads, "bona fide guests when entertained by him therein."

Q.—Suppose the "guest" should be served so much that he would appear on the street later showing signs of intoxication, would there be any penalty for this?

A.—None under the act, but numerous States have laws that bear on this, and the Federal act does not affect those State laws on prohibition which are not in conflict with it.

Q.—When a person has liquor in his home and charges are brought that liquor was not lawfully "acquired, possessed and used," upon whom shall the burden of proof be?

A.—On the defendant.

Q.—Does not this go counter to the principle of the common law that an accused person is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty?

DRASTIC LAW NEEDED.

A.—It does not concern the enforcement of the act to go into such questions. The framers of the act no doubt realized that drastic measures were necessary because of the enormous problem of enforcing prohibition.

Q.—Under the act may a revenue agent, if he has strong suspicions that the law is being violated, enter and search a man's dwelling?

A.—No; he may do this only after a search warrant has been issued.

Q.—How are the search warrants issued?

A.—If a person believes that liquor is being illegally held or used, and has strong evidence for this belief and makes an affidavit to that effect before a United States Commissioner or other qualified officer, than a search warrant against the person accused may be issued. Where liquor is being illegally sold there is a double violation, the second being failure to pay the tax. In addition, if it was being manufactured on the premises, there would be a third violation. These are under laws existing before this act was passed and which are not repealed by the act.

Q.—May a person move liquor, bought before war prohibition went into effect, out of a warehouse to his home?

A.—No, not if it is in a bonded government warehouse. During wartime prohibition liquor for beverage purposes may be removed from a bonded warehouse only for export purposes. After the amendment goes into effect in January, 1920, liquor may be moved from a bonded warehouse only for medicinal, scientific, mechanical or sacramental purposes. Only for these uses, it might be added, may liquor be sold.

Q.—Suppose a person had no room in house or apartment for liquor which he purchased before wartime prohibition went into effect, and he stored a barrel or several cases of whisky in an ordinary storage warehouse, will he be permitted to move this to his residence?

CAN STORE ELSEWHERE.

A.—Under "Title 1" of the act, which concerns the enforcement of war prohibition, there is no prohibition against this. Under "Title 2," which concerns the enforcement of the amendment, it would probably be necessary to obtain a permit from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or one of his agents to transport the liquor. 'The manufacture, sale, purchase, transportation of liquor—as permitted under the law—are governed by the issuance of permits by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Closely drawn restrictions are thrown around the issuance of these permits.

Q.—Is not the law clear on this point as to whether the person who has bought liquor for his personal use may move it from one place to another? How about the many cases that will arise when a citizen moves from one city to another or from one State to another?

A.—This is considered a moot point in the act; one for interpretation. It is said the original intention of the framers of the act was that it should not be done, as one can see that the procedure opens up many channels for fraud. Persons can claim that liquor which they have illegally bought was held by them in storage in another place. In the debate in the Senate the question came up whether a person moving to another house could take his wine and liquor with him. Senator Phelan asked this of Senator Sterling, who had charge of the bill.

SENATORS PUZZLED.

Senator Sterling only committed himself to say, "I am inclined to think he can," and added that he had been asked that question more than once. "Then," continued Senator Phelan, "as I understand, Senators, on returning to their several homes in due course, may take with them the remnants of their cellars. . . . ?" Senator Sterling's answer was: "The Senator will have to put his own interpretation on the bill in that respect."

Q.—In case the owner moves such a distance that a transportation by railroad is required, are there additional legal requirements to be met?

A.—Yes. Under wartime prohibition the railroads have been requiring evidence that the liquor to be shipped had been purchased before war prohibition went into effect. There are, in addition, as preventives against shipments in many directions, the Webb-Kenyon and the Reed bone dry laws, which, speaking in general terms, prohibit shipments of liquor in violation of State laws, and a large number of the States now have laws against the transportation of liquor through their territory. Section 240 of the Revised Statutes also comes into such cases, providing that unless a package of liquor is so labeled outside the penalty is a fine of $5,000 and forfeiture.

Q.—How about the owner moving his liquor by automobile?

MUST HAVE PERMIT.

A.—After the amendment goes into effect permits will probably be required, the same as for any other kind of transportation. Section 26, Title 2, which covers transportation, is very comprehensive, including, for example, illegal transportation by aircraft. The vehicle illegally used shall be seized, and unless a good and valid bond is given, may be sold to pay the fine assessed against the violator. The liquor is also seized.

Q.—The act says that one may have liquor legally held in his "private dwelling," and that no one shall search any "private dwelling" unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor. What is the definition of "private dwelling"?

A.—That part of Section 25, Title 2, which covers this, reads: "The term 'private dwelling' shall be construed to include the room or rooms used and occupied, not transiently, but solely as a residence in an apartment house, hotel, or boarding house."

Q.—One who had a bottle of liquor in his room in a hotel would be "transiently occupying" the room and thus not be exempt under this provision?

A.—Yes, as a transient he would be transporting liquor from one place to another.

PRIVATE DWELLINGS.

Q.—The act says: "No search warrant shall issue to search any private dwelling occupied as such, unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, or unless it is in part used for some business purpose, such as a store, shop, saloon, restaurant, hotel or boarding house." The question has been raised whether, if a shop on the first floor of an apartment house was suspected of the unlawful sale of liquor, under this section, any apartment in the building might not be searched—how about that?

A.—That could not be, for, as the act reads, each apartment or room, permanently occupied, is a "private dwelling," and, therefore, a separate search warrant would be required for each. Apartment dwellers need have no apprehension on this score.

Q.—In the procedure against violation of war prohibition, is the prosecution directed primarily against the person or against the place where the violation is committed?

A.—Any room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure or place of any kind where intoxicating liquor is sold is declared by the act to be a common nuisance, and any person who maintains or assists in maintaining such a nuisance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or be imprisoned not less than thirty days, or more than one year, or both. Such property shall be subject to a lien and may be sold to pay all fines and costs assessed against the occupant for any violations of the act.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT.

If it be made to appear by affidavit or other evidence under oath that the law is being violated, a temporary writ of injunction restraining the defendant from continuing such nuisance shall be issued. This injunction may be made permanent. Any person found guilty of contempt under this provision shall be punished by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment of not less than thirty days, or not more than twelve months, or by both. Under the legislation for the enforcement of the amendment there is the same provision against maintaining a public nuisance and the same penalties.

Q.—What are other specific penalties under the amendment enforcement?

A.—For the manufacture or sale of liquor in violation of the act a fine of not more than $1,000 or six months' imprisonment for the first offence; for the violation of any permit issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to manufacture, transport, or sell liquor, a fine of not more than $500 for the first offence; upon evidence of illegal manufacture or sale a tax shall be assessed against the guilty person double the amount now provided by law, with an additional penalty of $500 on retail dealers and $1,000 on manufacturers.

Q.—By whom are arrests to be made?

A.—Under war prohibition enforcement, by any officer of the United States; under enforcement of the amendment by any officer of the law, which includes, of course, State officers.

CAN BE MANUFACTURED.

Q.—Does the permit system also apply to the manufacture or use of liquor for non-beverage purposes?

A.—Yes. Permits must be procured from the commissioner or his agents by the manufacturer to use liquor in the manufacture of the following articles: Medicinal preparations manufactured according to stated formulas; patented, patent and proprietary medicines unfit for beverage purposes; toilet, medicinal and antiseptic preparations unfit for beverage purposes; flavoring extracts and syrups unfit for beverage or intoxicating purposes. Permits to sell the manufactured articles are not required.

Q.—If the holder of a non-beverage permit is found to be making or selling an alcoholic beverage in violation of the provisions the check is by revoking the permit?

A.—Yes, and a fine of not less than $500 for the first offence and increasing fines or imprisonment for subsequent offences, up to the third.

Q.—How are seized liquors to be disposed of?

A.—They may be turned over to any department or agency of the United States government for scientific, mechanical or medicinal purposes or sold at private sales to persons authorized to buy.

Q.—When the demobilization of the troops is completed, will war prohibition come to an end?

A.—No, not until the termination of the war.

HOME-MADE DRINKS.

Q.—Under the law, is it possible legally to make in the home any kind of drink containing alcohol?

A.—Yes; this may be done out of fruit juices. That part of the law reads: "The penalties provided in this act against the manufacture of liquor without a permit shall not apply to a person for manufacturing non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively in the home, but such cider shall not be sold or delivered except to persons having permits to manufacture vinegar."

Q.—Does the standard fixed for all other alcoholic beverages—that they shall contain less than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol—apply to cider and fruit juices made exclusively for home use?

A.—According to the opinion expressed by framers of the law, in the debates in Congress, the question here of what is non-intoxicating is not to be governed by the one-half of one per cent. standard. Senator Sterling, who had charge of the bill in the Senate, said in the discussion of the bill in the Senate: "The Senator from Kansas (Curtis) suggests that it will be a question of fact for the jury to determine in any given case. I agree with him in that."

Q.—That is, the test here will be whether signs of actual intoxication are shown?

A.—That is it. In guarding against the manufacture of intoxicating drinks in the home the sale of liquor recipes and formulas is forbidden.

Q.—Under the cider and fruit juice provision as applying to the home, is it permitted to serve a guest in the home?

POINT NOT COVERED.

A.—That is not covered. A question of interpretation is what is meant by "home use," but it appears this would be permitted by the section. It would be taking a risk, however; as, for example, if the guest should receive 7 per cent. cider and afterward, on the street, showed signs of intoxication, the person who had given the liquor to the intoxicated one would be subject to a fine and imprisonment.

Q.—How about 2.75 beer after the act goes into effect?

A.—It will be as dead as a door nail. The authorities will proceed to seize at once, as public nuisances under the act, those places where 2.75 beer is sold, or any beverage which contains more than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol.

Q.—What will the bearing be of the suits which have been brought alleging that 2.75 beer is non-intoxicating and injunctions in favor of the plaintiffs granted pending final decision of the cases?

A.—This act was passed subsequent to the suits. A new suit would have to be brought.

FEDERAL LAW FIRST.

Q.—How about the laws in the various States which differ from the federal law?

A.—The federal law takes precedence.

Q.—What will happen in those States where a beverage with any alcoholic content is forbidden?

A.—A State can enforce such a provision as it is not in conflict with this act. State laws which do not run counter to the federal law will remain in force.

Q.—Does the act make any provision for the 55,000,000 net gallons of potable spirits now in government bonded warehouses in this country?

A.—It may not be exported for beverage purposes after the amendment goes into effect, but may be withdrawn for non-beverage uses.

Q.—In case of illness how may liquor be obtained?

A.—No one but a physician holding a permit to prescribe liquor shall issue any prescription for liquor. This must be after careful physical examination or, if that is impracticable, on the best information obtainable that the use of such liquor as a medicine is necessary for the ailment. Not more than a pint of spirituous liquor to be taken internally shall be prescribed for use by the same person within any period of ten days, and no prescription may be filled more than once.

RECORD OF SALES.

No physician shall prescribe and no pharmacist shall fill any prescription for liquor except on blanks provided, except in cases of emergency, in which event a record shall be kept as in other cases.

Q.—Suppose, under the act, after the amendment goes into effect, an intoxicated person driving an automobile runs down and injures another person?

A.—The injured person or his executor if he dies, shall have a right of action against any person or his executor or administrator, who sold or assisted in procuring liquor for such intoxicated person, and the plaintiff shall have a right to recover actual and exemplary damages.

Q.—How about the many liquor signs left up over the country?

A.—Before the amendment goes into effect they all have to come down, at the expense of the owners of them.

Q.—In the enforcement of the act what construction is to be placed on its provisions?

A.—According to the act itself it shall be liberally construed to t end that the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage may be prevented.

DEAN SLAIN TWO DAYS AFTER HE TOLD OF SIGNALS

ASKED INVESTIGATION BY FEDERAL AGENTS

work of mountains, were not the product of rural imagination or war hysteria, as some have endeavored to argue. Federal records refute such a claim.

The signals were real. They were military signals. They were as much a part of the German war system as were the Kaiser's armies overseas. That fact cannot be disputed. They were seen too many times and for too long a period by persons of influence, calm judgment and intelligence, some of whom engaged private detectives and conducted personal investigations, actuated by patriotism.

The lights and balloons and rockets made their first appearance in the hills and mountains of New Hampshire as early as the Fall of 1916, when relations between Germany and the United States were at the breaking point. They were displayed continuously and with greater frequency and boldness after Uncle Sam entered the fray in April, 1917, and continued in operation up to the armistice.

There were signals and other anti-American activities, and all the evidence shows that nobody, with the exception of those concerned in the traitorous operations, knew more about what was going on than did Dr. Dean.

DISCUSSES LIGHTS.

There is evidence that he discussed the lights as far back as Thanksgiving, 1917, and frequently later, and that in the Fall, when he was struck down and shoved into a well, within a few months of the defeat and surrender of the German armies, Dr. Dean was so alarmed over what he discovered that he appealed to a wealthy woman neighbor, Mrs. Horace Morrison of Boston, Washington and East Jaffrey, to hasten to the Department of Justice agents in Boston and to ask them to send up their best man.

But Dr. Dean's tongue was silenced by a gang of assassins before an agent could go to New Hampshire to hear the story that went to his grave with him. Fortunately, Dr. Dean was not the only one who knew about the spy activities, although if he had told Mrs. Morrison more his slayers might now be behind bars instead of enjoying their freedom and laughing up their sleeves at the attempts to direct suspicion elsewhere.

Affairs were becoming desperate for the Germans, and the situation was so critical that agents in New England were forced to be ruthless. In fairness, however, it should be stated that they apparently acted more through personal fear of exposure than on any national impulse in the killing of Dean.

On the morning of what proved to be Dr. Dean's last day of life Mrs. Horace Morrison, who occupies a beautiful mountain estate not more than a mile distant down the old Jaffrey-Peterboro wood road, called on him with two other women.

VISITED DEANS.

Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Lynch were collecting contributions for a local hospital in which they were interested. They sought articles and cash for a hospital fair. They had been to Peterboro, and while motoring toward Jaffrey they decided to drop in at the Deans.

Mrs. Morrison explained their mission, and Dr. Dean, cordial and generous as ever, received them with open arms. He donated a handsome bronze piece, some of the best books from his library and a basket of sweet peas.

Mrs. Morrison's story of her last interview with Dr. Dean forms a part of the Grand Jury, State and Federal records. Here is the stenographic transcript of her testimony.

"On Tuesday, August 13, I went to see Dr. Dean at his farm around noontime to collect funds or other donations for the hospital in which I am interested. I met Dr. Dean near his barn and we both walked across the field from Colfelt's house. Dr. Dean said: 'Miss Ware spoke of seeing lights. Did you see any lights?'

Dr. Dean said, 'Could you show where you saw them?' I said 'yes, I can show you.' We walked to a large stone and stood there for a time. Dr. Dean turned and said, 'What do you know of the Colfelts? Have you met them?'

"I said, 'Yes, at the Golf Club last July, but I think, Dr. Dean, you know more about them than I do. Why did he leave to go to Greenville?' Dr. Dean said, 'I gave him twenty-four hours to get out. I am too good an American to have a man of that kind in my place.'

"I said, 'What do you mean by that, Dr. Dean?' Dr. Dean said, 'Well, in the first place (hesitating), a man like Colfelt, young and strong, who will not do useful work at this time is not the man I want on my place. I offered him my land to use for agricultural purposes. The rent I need. When are you going to Boston, Mrs. Morrison?' He asked this after we had walked a few steps.

"I said, 'Tomorrow, Dr. Dean. Tomorrow morning.'

"He said, 'Will you go in and ask them to send up one of the best men they have as soon as possible?'

"I said, 'I will, Dr. Dean.'

ASKED FOR WHOLE STORY.

"Dr. Dean then said, 'I will come out to this stone at 12 tonight and if I see anything I will ring you up.' It was agreed to use a code message about turkeys. I said to Dr. Dean, 'Can't you tell me now, as it will save time?'

"Dr. Dean turned quietly and said, 'Mrs. Morrison, you are a woman. What I know would be too dangerous for a woman to know.'

"I said, 'Why did you not take it to the authorities if you knew this?' He said, 'Well, in the first place, I can't leave my wife, and, in the second place, I want to make sure that I am right and I am ready now.'

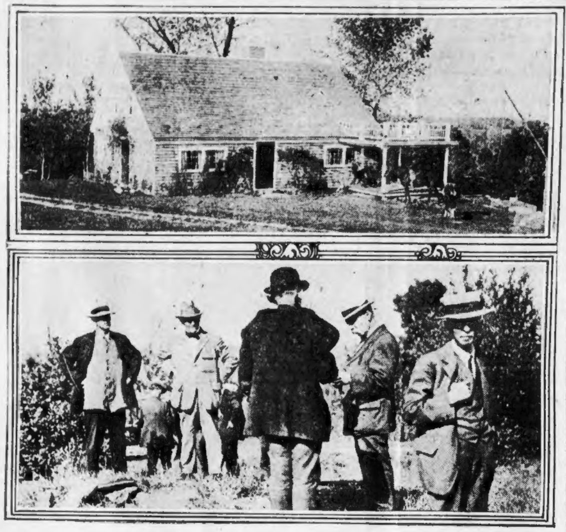
"We parted then, Dr. Dean having given me some books and a bronze statuette and a basket for my sale to raise funds for the hospital. I left the next day (on the 6:30 a. m. train) for Boston where I placed the request before Mr. Gifford at the headquarters of the Department of Justice at No. 45 Milk street. The next day I read of the murder of Dr. Dean in a Boston newspaper and communicated the fact to Mr. Gifford. Dr. Dean had complained that his turkeys had been stolen by 'two-legged foxes,' although locked in the barn."

WATCHED THE LIGHTS.

Under their agreement, Mrs. Morrison watched the lights that night and wondered why she did not receive the promised telephone call in code from Dr. Dean, but he was dead in six feet of water in the cistern before the appointed hour of midnight, and ignorant of the tragedy, she took the early train from East Jaffrey next morning.

Mrs. Morrison is one of the star witnesses. She is the wife of an army officer. Her father, the late John Whitcomb Cotton, amassed a fortune as head of the American Tube Works in Boston.

DEAN BUNGALOW AT EAST JAFFREY, N. H., AND SCENE OF THE CRIME



It was in this bungalow on the hillside at East Jaffrey in which William K. Dean was ilving at the time he discovered the mysterious signals. The other picture shows the mouth of the cistern in which Dean's battered remains were found. The picture was taken shortly after the murder

Three days later Mrs. Morrison went to the spot where she stood that day with Dr. Dean. She was accompanied by a Mr. Anderson. While they conversed the incident, standing close to a stone wall, Mrs. Morrison heard a suspicious noise in the bushes. She remarked to Mr. Anderson, "There is somebody in that hedge." Instantly a man arose, and fled through the undergrowth into the woods. He apparently feared capture. They saw little more than his back.

Strange activities on a supposedly peaceful New England farm! The man in ambush incident developed the theory that Dr. Dean's conversation with Mrs. Morrison had been overheard and carried to superiors. That was possible, under the circumstances, but it should not be overlooked for an instant that Dr. Dean went to the village that evening for a few hours and conversed with quite a few persons, one or two of whom were likely to have been told of his plan to inform the United States authorities.

DID NOT TELL HIS WIFE.

Dr. Dean was extremely non-communicative. He took few if any into his confidence and he seldom discussed his private affairs. He obviously did not burden with his fears his wife, whose mind and health were rapidly failing, but that he had silently entertained fears was indicated in divers ways prior to his murder.

The tragedy occurred on Tuesday night. On the Sunday evening previous he visited the mountain home of Professor Benjamin L. Robinson of Cambridge. Professor Robinson is instructor in botany at Harvard. The Robinsons were among the Deans' most cherished friends of the East Jaffrey Summer colony. Dr. Dean, in the course of his conversation that Sunday evening, started to tell something about signals and kindred activities when he suddenly stopped and remarked: "But I must not burden you with my troubles." He would not discuss the subject further.

On Tuesday night during his visit to the village he met Miss Georgian Hodgkins, sister-in-law of Charles L. Rich, judge of the local police court and cashier of the local bank. Miss Hodgkins is a teacher at a high school in Great Neck, L. I. She had frequently visited the Riches and knew Dr. Dean very well. She says he discussed the subject of immortality with her that night and among other phases suggested that he thought soldiers killed in battle, no matter how sinful their lives might have been, would be absolved of everything. Miss Hodgkins was so impressed with this point that she told the Rev. Mr. Enslin, pastor of the Baptist Church, who officiated at Dr. Dean's funeral. Miss Hodgkins thought it might be used as a theme for a funeral sermon.

Dr. Dean was a courageous, cool man who would not entertain groundless fears, nor would yhe make empt charges or wrong a person. That was why he proceeded with such caution in this affair. Had he been a little more demonstrative he might have defeated those who plotted against him.

In June Dean received a threatening letter in his rural free delivery box. It was unsigned and bore no postage. He told Miss Mary Lee Ware, a wealthy Summer resident of East Jaffrey, about it, but did not go into details. Miss Ware lives at No. 41 Brimmer street, Boston. She has testified that she had a vague impression that the letter threatened Dr. Dean's life. There again he became dumb just before furnishing the vital details. The case would be infinitely easier to solve if he had been more explicit.

Another bit of evidence which showed that Dr. Dean felt that danger menaced him is contained in testimony offered by Police Officer Walter A. Lindsay of East Jaffrey, who made the only statement prior to the Grand Jury investigation, which was sworn to.

POLICEMAN'S STATEMENT.

Officer Lindsay made a deposition before Justice of the Peace Walter E. Merson. His statement follows:

"About July 13, I met Dr. Dean in front of the postoffice. He noticed my police badge and asked if I was still on the force, and I told him 'yes.' Then he said, 'I have lived on the farm for twenty-eight years and I have never been molested in any way, shape or manner, but if I should want police protection where would I telephone to?' And I said, 'Either to the police station, Duncan's (drug store) or Fred Stratton's livery stable.'"

Mark well that the first threat came by anonymous, unposted letter in June, dropped in the road box by some one of the underbrush conspirators; that he made tentative plans to get in touch with the police in the event of an anticipated emergency and that less than twelve hours after he talked with Mrs. Morrison he had met the fate he feared.

Bear in mind also that all these major links in the chain of evidence welded by fact and circumstances, are found away from the Dean fireside and every one of them eliminates Mrs. Dean and points to those interested in the mysterious signals on the hills.

Vose Player Piano

All the science and art of piano building that has made the Vose piano famous for nearly three-quarters of a century has been put into the making of this Vose player.

It is the tone difference between the Vose, and other players that strongly impresses one when a comparison is made.

Player improvements patented by the Vose Company and used exclusively in the Vose player give this instrument exclusive values not obtainable in others.

A comparison, the played roll tells a stronger and more convincing story of its superiority than the written word—an upright piano and player in one instrument. Terms.

Wonderful vigor of the founder of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Millions now use his famous prescription

ALL physicians know that good health depends largely upon proper digestion and elimination, and that most sickness results from these causes. None knows this better than the "family" doctor, the general practitioner.

Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Illinois, was and is a family doctor. The whole human body, not any small part of it, was his practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

Dr. Caldwell in the course of 40 years' practice, for he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875, had found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year the preparation was first placed on the market. The picture of Dr. Caldwell that appears on the package was taken in that year.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in the [illegible]'s private practice. Today the [illegible] generation is using it. Mothers [illegible] it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it, for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is selling at the rate of over 6 million bottles a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Syrup Pepsin, and the formulator of that prescription is fortunately living to see its wonderful success.

Women, children and old people are the ones most benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It differs from physics in that its action is mild and gentle and free from griping. It does not weaken. And while it is promptly effective in the most obstinate case, it is safe for a tiny baby as it contains no narcotics.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter the family size and sufficient to last months. Keep a bottle in your home. Where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL TODAY
Born Shelbyville, Mo., March 27, 1839
Began the manufacture of his famous prescription in 1892.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DUTY TO GREET DE VALERA, SAYS COUZENS

Detroit Mayor Unperturbed by Loss of Chance to Shake Hand of Prince of Wales

By International News Agency.

Detroit, Oct. 23.—Mayor James Couzens, after being notified today that an invitation extended him to greet the Prince of Wales in Windsor had been withdrawn because he officially received Eamon de Valera, said:

"I could not do otherwise than receive de Valera. As Mayor it is my duty to greet any one who comes to Detroit. The City Council passed a resolution favoring an official reception to the Irish leader, and I carried out its terms. I suppose Detroit needs a secretary of state to handle her diplomatic problems."

Prince Ought to Shake Hand of Real American, Says Thomas H. Mahony

If Mayor James Couzens of Detroit cannot shake the hand of the Prince of Wales because he has shaken the hand of Eamon de Valera, President of the Irish Republic, he should not worry, because, like Mary, he has chosen the better part. This sentiment was expressed by two leading Boston citizens, friends of Irish freedom, commenting on the withdrawal of the invitation to Mayor Couzens to meet the Prince of Wales in Windsor, following his hearty handshake of De Valera.

"It is too bad that the Prince is compelled to forego the novel experience of meeting a real, independent American—Mayor Couzens," said Thomas H. Mahony of the Friends of Irish Freedom.

"That the Prince of Wales refused to meet Mayor Couzens, after he had shaken hands with De Valera," said Edward F. McSweeney, "is merely another indication of British methods with regard to the Irish question. It is merely an attempt to ostracize anybody who pursues an independent course when that course is not England's. It is another illustration of British passive methods. The incident may be dismissed by quoting the French proverb—'Chacun a son gout' (Each to his taste)."

BUSINESS FLOURISHES AT THE ARMY STORES

The mail order department of the army supply stores recorded Wednesday 2,447 orders shipped. Receipts for Wednesday were $15,119.40 making a total of $363,198.39. Through the mails Wednesday $1,500 in orders was received. Lieutenant-Colonel H. B. Barry, in charge of the department, says the orders will be filled within four days. He requests all persons sending mail orders to write to the mail order department of the army supply stores and not to any officer. It has been decided that a store will be opened in Lynn. Colonel W. H. Hart, zone supply officer, is in New York today. The cash and carry branch, Captain R. C. Holliday, manager, did $16,087.15 in business Wednesday.

WIFE BEATER ORDERED TO GET OUT OF STATE

James L. Gray ? Elm place, Brookline, appeared in the Brookline Police Court today before Judge Perkins, charged with assault on his wife. He was found guilty and given six months in the House of Correction at Dedham. Sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation with orders to leave the State.

HUSBAND GONE 10 YEARS, WIFE IS GIVEN DIVORCE

Lola E. Hanson was today granted a divorce from Clarence W. Hanson. She claimed that for the past ten years she had been self-supporting. The last time she saw her husband was on July 3, 1809. They were married in Haverhill in 1898, and have two children.

New Bedford, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Cordelia G. Winslow is dead at the age of ninety. She was a devoted church member and had not missed a Watch Night service for seventy-four years.

New Bedford, Oct. 23.—If a woman spends a great part of her time in a barroom her husband is under no obligation to support her. That was the decision of Judge Milliken of the District Court, who found William Clark not guilty of neglecting his wife Mary.

FILE BILL TO LOCATE LEGION IN STATE HOUSE

A bill to permit the Massachusetts branch of the American Legion to have quarters in the State House was filed with the Senate clerk by Senator John J. Walsh of Boston today. It will come up for action at the special session of the Legislature next month.

It provides that the superintendent of buildings, under the consolidation of departments, shall assign offices for the legion.

POOR HEALTH LEADS MAN TO END LIFE

Leaving a note to his brother explaining that poor health was the cause of his act, James E. Williams, fifty-two, of No. 708 Tremont street, committed suicide by gas poisoning. His body was found today by the proprietor of the lodging house.

FREE OFFICER OF FALSE ARREST CHARGES

Patrick J. Coyne, One of Strikers, Refused Help by Curtis, Defended by City

Judge Burke, in the Civil Session of the Municipal Court today, ordered judgment in favor of Patrick J. Coyne, one of the striking policemen, in a suit brought against him by James H. Cummings to recover $300 for an alleged arrest and assault which Cummings claimed Coyne committed upon him.

Judge Burke said he was satisfied that the arrest of Cummings by Coyne was legal and and was not made for several minutes after Coyne had asked Cummings and his friends to move on. As to the assault, Judge Burke said that the evidence did not convince him that the fall of Cummings was due to a blow given him by Coyne, and that some other cause did not intervene.

The trouble happened on Causeway street on the night of March 8 last. Cummings, who is a veteran of the world war, met some friends and Coyne ordered them to move on. Argument followed, whereupon Coyne arrested Cummings and assaulted him also, according to Cummings.

This was the first civil suit brought against the striking policemen for damages through the performance of their duty before the strike.

Coyne was defended by Corporation Counsel Arthur D. Hill, acting for the city, because Commissioner Curtis refused to allow the attorney for the police department to defend a striking policeman.

"GENERAL ALARM" IN MELROSE FOR $50 FIRE

A "general alarm" early today roused many Melrose citizens from bed only to learn that the "conflagration" was nothing but a $50 closet fire. Fire headquarters pleads guilty. James E. Campbell of No. 188 Venton street discovered a fire in a closet on the second floor of his home. He called fire headquarters on the telephone and reported the fire. Fire headquarters mistook the street for Trenton street and an alarm was sounded. The apparatus dashed past Venton street. Campbell again telephoned headquarters and another alarm was sounded.

SCORES SEE LAWYER INJURED BY TRAIN

While scores of horrified people looked on, Nathan B. Bidwell of No. 13 Adams street, Lexington, a lawyer, with offices on State street, Boston, was struck by a Boston-bound train and thrown more than twenty feet, just west of the Lexington station of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Bidwell had been walking between the tracks to the station. He is suffering from severe bruises and cuts, and possible internal injuries.

HARVARD FUND HALF RAISED; BOSTON LAGS

Canvassers in Outside Districts Make Big Gains; One Gift of $15,000

One-half of the Harvard Endowment Fund of $15,250,000 had been raised today, according to the local committee. This was made possible by the work of canvassers outside of New York and Boston who reported nearly $68,000 subscribed on Wednesday.

The two big centres contributed only $65,000 on that day. Boston's share of that was $25,275, the smallest for any day since the opening of the drive.

The totals at 10 a. m. today were: Boston, $3,107,575; New York, $2,699,151; outside, $1,764,922; total, $7,571,648.

If Too Thin Try Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

Allies Pick Members of Commissions Under Treaty

By International News Service.

Paris, Oct. 23.—Nominations of French, British and Italian members to the permanent commissions growing out of the peace treaty were received by the Supreme Council today.

After various committees had submitted their reports the Supreme Council adjourned until Saturday. It is possible that the date for the treaty's promulgation may be definitely fixed then.

If the American Senate acts upon the peace treaty during the first week in November there is a possibility that it might become effective on November 11, the anniversary of the signing of the armistice, the International News Service learned from a high source today.

Despite denials, there are indications that France and Italy are waiting upon the United States Senate before setting a definite date for the depositing of the ratifications with the French Foreign Office.

DORCHESTER SOLDIER TO RECEIVE CROSS

Major Joseph P. Murray, in command of the marine recruiting division, has received a Croix de Guerre which he will present to Private George F. Doherty, U. S. M. C., at the meeting of the All Dorchester Post of the American Legion tonight. The citation which accompanies the War Cross states that on June 12, 1918, while detached as a scout, Private Doherty uncovered an enemy machine gun, and although wounded, remained at his post to direct his squad.

Shoemakers Buying Leather

After vainly waiting for a reduction in prices, shoe manufacturers in this country have resumed leather buying on a steadily increasing scale. New England factories are working at capacity. The unprecedented foreign demand is what has kept leather high. Exports of sole stock for the first eight months of the year totalled $40,475,000, compared with $9,-335,000 for the corresponding 1918 period.

LACKAWANNA IS A SOARING FEATURE

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, having failed to rally during the morning. Lackawanna Steel was showing almost seven points gain at 12 o'clock, while Crucible was up just five. U. S. Steel and Republic Steel were lower, the former by a fraction and the latter more than three points. Oils and motors were showing from two to more than five points loss. Middle States was an exception among oils, having advanced more than two. Atlantic Gulf was weakest among shipping stocks. Leather issues were fractionally lower as a class, but Hide and Leather preferred was down a couple of points. The market was very active on the decline, first hour transactions totalling about 530,000 shares.

Call money opened at 6 per cent. In the foreign exchange market sterling rates declined to $4.15½ for demand and $4.16¼ for cables.

The market opened with a recessional, the majority of active issues selling off on first transactions. U. S. Steel was among the weakest at the start, while even larger losses were sustained by General Motors, Studebaker, Baldwin, Republic Steel, Corn Products and Texas Co. There was almost immediate improvement, with steels taking the lead. Lackawanna made a sensational advance, soaring more than fourteen points to 103. It lost a large part of the gain almost as quickly. It touched its 1919 highest on the advance. Crucible was strong, rising thirteen points to 261, a highest record price, before 11 o'clock. Midvale changed a loss to more than two points gain. U. S. Steel recovered all its loss and showed a small gain for a while.

The withdrawal of labor representatives from the Washington conference was the main reason for the market reacting at the outset. Oils were irregular at the outset and took a downward course subsequently, being at their lowest in the second hour. Motors remained heavy and shipping shares reflected the general movement. Steels were the most active as well as the strongest group during the morning. It was rumored that a pool had begun operations in Republic Steel and that this corporation would be merged with Crucible Steel. All this is denied by Crucible interests.

Bay State Road Petition

The Bay State Street Railway Co. has petitioned the public service commission for permission to reduce outstanding stock, proposing to issue new stock on a basis of one share of new for each 100 shares of old. The plan is approved by the owners of all of the 205,172 shares of common stock and by all but holders of 107 of the 40,113 shares of preferred stock.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Oct. 23.—The cotton market opened weak and first prices were 45 to 90 points lower owing to weak cables and the National Ginners' report estimating the crop at from 10,600,000 bales to 10,700,000 bales. Later, influenced by the forecast for rains and colder weather in the Eastern belt, the market rallied 25 to 28 points. At the end of twenty minutes the tone was steady, with prices about 30 points net lower. Opening prices were: October, 35.00 bid, off 90; December, 35.40, off 45; January, 35.10, off 45; March, 34.85, off 52; May, 34.65, off 54.

FORM COMPANY TO BUILD BIG GARAGE

The Main-Park Motors Co. has been incorporated to build a monster garage at the juncture of Main street and Park avenue in Worcester, and it is expected that the building, with a capacity for 205 cars, will be ready for occupancy about February 1. Promoters claim it will be the second largest garage in New England, and the largest on one floor.

The company is capitalized at $360,-000, and it is expected that a limited number of shares will be placed on the market. William L. Vaughan is president, J. S. Gerety treasurer, and Leona Thompson secretary of the corporation.

Iron and Steel Production

The production of pig iron and steel has increased within a week, the Iron Age reports. With no marked change in strike condition furnace and mill gains have been sufficient to bring the steel output to a 60 per cent. basis.

Coal Agency Wanted

Large firm of coal exporters having connections with large buyers, railway companies and corporations in the near European markets, with head offices in Liverpool, London and Glasgow, are desirous of representing large colliery company or coal exporters who are in a position to undertake orders for steam and gas coal. State full particulars to Box A 800.

Double Your Banking Facilities

There is a personal prestige that accompanies a checking account with a reputable banking institution. It indicates a safe, sane and practical way of conducting business affairs.

Two outstanding facts confront the average man or woman of the present time—SAVING and the manner in which financial expenditures are made. By saving a fixed amount of your earnings at specified intervals you are creating a nucleous of future finances—a portion of which can be turned into a checking account to meet such financial obligations which may occur from time to time.

In selecting a financial institution, it is always good business to select one that incorporates savings and checking departments. Most up-to-date banks of modern financial facilities conduct these departments.

When you consider your banking requirements, remember that the business of an up-to-date bank is to serve you in every way.

You can do no better than to make your selection from the reputable banking institutions displayed on this page, and each one is equipped to take care of your SAVINGS or CHECKING account or both.

Take advantage of the modern facilities offered by these banking institutions.

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its prompt results. Inexpensive, and saves about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

PRICE TREND IS DOWNWARD IN BOSTON

Few Issues Advance, but the Majority Recede During the Morning

At the opening the Boston market was rather weak, declines being about two to one compared with advances. Waltham Watch was the morning feature, starting with a three-point gain and showing six before 12 o'clock. It touched 43 at its forenoon highest, which is its top record for the Boston Stock Exchange. Parish & Bingham soon sold at its highest record price, but showed a loss after a few subsequent transactions. Packing issues were weak and so were automobile accessory stocks. National Leather was active and receded a little. Coppers were as quiet as usual and averaged lower.

Among weak issues were Calumet & Arizona, United Fruit, Libby, Swift & Co. and Swift International. All were off a point or more. Those to decline fractionally included East Butte, Isle Royale, Carson Hill, Root & Van Dervoort, Gray & Davis, Mullins Body, Davis Daly and Waldorf.

Gains were made by Massachusetts Gas, Stewart, U. S. Smelting, St. Mary's Land and Agricultural Chemical. They were up a point or more. Issues to advance fractionally included Copper Range, American Telephone, Ventura, N. E. Telephone and Helvetia. U. S. Smelting sold at its year's higest.

The market was active but the bulk of the trading was in a few issues.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The strength and activity of Hendee Manufacturing stock on the Boston Curb anticipates the publication of an annual report covering the most prosperous year in this company's history. This stock will soon be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Galen L. Stone of Hayden, Stone & Co. and Mrs. Stone, Chairman A. H. Wiggin of the Chase National Bank and Mrs. Wiggin and President E. D. Bruce of the Pacific Development Co. and Mrs. Bruce will start today on a trip to Japan, China and other parts of the Orient. They will be absent from two to six months. The trip is described as "90 per cent. pleasure and 10 per cent. business."

Business of the American Soda Fountain Co. during the fiscal year ended by August was 100 per cent. larger than for the preceding twelve months. An equal expansion is expected for the current year. It is largely because of prohibition.

The Boston Stock Exchange seat of Charles P. Greenough, 2d, has been posted for transfer to Joseph A. Rushton of Babcock, Rushton & Co., a Chicago brokerage firm.

The Montana, Southern Railway, thirty eight miles in length, a subsidiary of the Boston & Montana Development Co., has completed its line from Divide on the Oregon Short Line to Elkhorn. Ore shipments will begin at once, it is stated.

FIFTEEN BILLIONS IN PUBLIC UTILITIES

Fifteen billion dollars is invested in public utilities in this country, investment bankers were told while in convention at St. Louis, and these securities not only represent the savings of thousands of investors, but are held by nearly every bank and financial institution in the country.

"If municipal ownership is resorted to," said O. B. Wilcox of Bonbright & Co., "it is safe to say that the public conscience unless debauched by demagogues, will approve fair compensation to the private interests whose property may be taken over. Municipal efficiency and credit cannot be built upon municipal dishonesty and confiscation."

No safe in the country could withstand Pat Crowe's sharp drills, but now that he has become a bank employe his experience will prove valuable in safeguarding his employers' money. Crowe, who gained international notoriety through the kidnaping of Edward Cudahy, son of a packer, and the subsequent ransoming of the boy for $25,000, recently went to Washington and obtained a position in a bank there.

FRENCH SENATE COURT HEARS CAILLAUX

Former Premier Arraigned for Treason; Date of Trial To Be Set

By International News Service.

Paris, Oct. 23.—The Senate met today, sitting as a High Court to set the date of the trial of former Premier Joseph Caillaux, who is accused of having had treasonable dealings with the enemy.

Caillaux was driven from the private hospital in Neuilly, where he has been confined since September, in a closed automobile to avoid the gaze of the curious. A great crowd had gathered about the Senate Building when Caillaux arrived.

Three lawyers represented the former premier, who sat upon a first-row bench with his attorneys behind him. After formal roll call of the Senators, Premier Du Bost asked if the accused was present. Caillaux replied for himself. Then counsel for the defence made formal demand that Caillaux be released, pending his trial. The public retired and the court began deliberating upon the date of the trial and the question of giving Caillaux his liberty until arraigned.

The deliberations were expected to last until late at night.

Carpenter Is Famed as Encyclopedia of U. S. Navy

B. D. Quinlan, chief carpenter's mate for aviation, is the human encyclopedia of the Navy.

When a prospective gob thinks seriously of joining Uncle Sam's sea fighters, he is sent to No. 51 Cornhill, where Quinlan dispenses accurate information on naval life in a chatty way that carries the flavor of Jack London's sea stories.

At the battle of El Caney in Cuba, July 2, 1898, Quinlan was a member of the 7th Regiment, United States Infantry, Regulars, which helped take the town. He also spent four years in the Philippines.

While attached to the aviation branch of the navy, he has been stationed at Pensacola, Chatham and Miami. He is credited with several new ideas in connection with balloons.

TEACHERS' LOW PAY DEPLORED BY HOOD

President of the Associated Industries Speaks at Opening Luncheon

Pay for teachers, the police strike, unionism and health insurance were among the subjects discussed by President Frederic C. Hood of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, at a luncheon at the Copley Plaza today which marked the opening of the two-days fourth annual meeting.

President Hood said to pass a word on education. I believe that industry is nothing more than a great big vocational school. I believe there is more education in business than business in education. Think of women teachers in Massachusetts receiving an average of only $655 yearly in 1918! Think that public sentiment is not aroused to giving compensation to our teachers that will attract to our schools as teachers the very best of our people. The thought that teachers in seventy-three cities have formed labor unions and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor fills us with pathos and horror.

"There is no reason why the technical schools cannot use our factories as their work shops, as the Harvard Medical School is using our factories in their study of industrial hygiene.

"THE CLOCK STRUCK TWELVE"

"Some wage earners act if they did not realize every wage earner is a wage payer. There are even professors of economics who do not know the difference between money as a commodity and money as a measure. The fallacy of the less work the more jobs and the higher wages is being discovered even by proponents of that fallacious theory. To my mind, the clock struck twelve when the policemen formed a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"Surely, it is inconsistent to shout for a free press when the International Typographical Union even suggests a measure of control over editorial department and the news department as part of an agreement with the printers and newswriters.

"Union labor must have its limitations. Speaking very seriously, it will deliberately commit suicide if it interferes with a free press or if it tries to unionize school teachers or claim any jurisdiction over policemen, firemen or any other government employes.

"This association is squarely with every government official who stands for a government of law and not for a government of men. We will not compromise with any attack on our government and its institutions.

WANT CONTENTED WORKERS.

Health insurance is now raging in New York State. It is a foolish suggestion until sickness prevention has been investigated. Why not find the causes of sickness before we try to cure it?

"We want to see groups of happy contented workers, all pulling together for prosperity and productivity. We want to see prosperous industries in Massachusetts all of the highest credit—in the human relations, in their financial relations and in the civic relations. There is no monopoly of prosperity, and if we stand strong for legislation that will protect and benefit all the people of the State, and if we stand for the principles of employment relation, financial relation and civic relations which correctly interpret and perpetuate the ideals of our republic this association will justify its existence."

James A. Emery of Washington, D. C., general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, spoke on "Combination and Social Progress," and R. B. Wolf of New York, a consulting engineer, on "The Human Relations in Industry."

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

WHEN YOUR KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LUMPS OF LEAD

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.

WHAT IS A GOOD OVERCOAT?

A GOOD OVERCOAT is one that stands up well under continual wear; that goes through rain, snow and sleet, the rough treatment of motoring or train travel and still looks and feels like a regular overcoat.

To make such a coat requires the judgment and discrimination of many years of tailoring, knowledge of good fabrics, ability to create good styles and the experience to do good tailoring.

Sixty-seven years of serving the requirements of New England men has placed us in a pre-eminent position to know what is most desirable in overcoats for the New England winter.

This choice selection of coats embraces a large variety of styles and an entire floor of the MORSE building is devoted to their display. If you want to be surprised ask to see the showing at

SAVAGE ELK BARBECUED FOR FIREMEN'S FEAST

Burnham, Pa., Oct. 17.—A mammoth roast elk furnished the rather unusual piece de resistance at a barbecue of the Burnham Volunteer Fire Department.

The elk, "Jumbo B. I.," was one of a herd that was liberated in the State game preserves of Pennsylvania some years ago. The elk recently went on a rampage and killed six cows in the herd, and the State ordered it shot.

The carcass was turned over to the firemen, who sold the head for $1[illegible] and each of the two available teeth for $10.

U. S. TO ESTABLISH EMBASSY IN GERMANY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The United States will be represented in Germany by an ambassador, soon after the treaty of peace is ratified, it was learned at the State Department. A charge of affairs may be sent into Germany upon ratification of the treaty pending the appointment of an ambassador. Diplomatic representation in Austria-Hungary will probably be reduced from an embassy to a legation.

Assistant Secretary of State Frank Polk is generally mentioned as the President's choice for ambassador to Germany, but it is understood that he does not desire the appointment.

B. C. TONED DOWN BY COACH

Cavanaugh Using Methods to Prevent Unduly Swollen Craniums Over Yale Victory

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Applying ever-tightening tourniquets to the heads of Boston College football players has been the chief occupation of Coach Frank Cavanaugh and his assistants since their return from the eventful trip to New Haven.

Just how successful this treatment has been in arresting the outflow of sensible football and retarding the to-be-expected inflation of Boston College craniums will be told when the Maroon and Gold encounters the Blue and Gold at West Point on Saturday.

Football players as well as the football public generally are prone to forget that more often than otherwise the story of a football game is not told in the score.

Not even the most partisan Harvard man will claim their pre-war gridiron aggregations were really 36 and 45 points better than the Yale teams they opposed in 1914 and 1915. Yet those were the respective totals Crimson teams acquired in the two affrays. Nor will Dartmouth men contend their team of [illegible] was 41 points better than the Tufts aggregation which made history at Harvard and held Princeton to a single field goal.

NO CAUSE FOR BIG LEAD.

Yet, again, this immense pile of points was corralled by the Green. And while, in the vast majority of cases the better team is the victor, there are instances in abundance where teams, which on paper and in the light of comparative performances and in the actual playing of the game have been far superior to their opponents, have met defeat.

"They played better than they knew how," was quite the general comment at New Haven immediately after the Yale game. That comment was incorrect, of course, for no team plays better than it knows how, particularly when it is one that has been sitting at the feet of Frank Cavanaugh. What the B. C. team did do was to play for every bit there was in it and to minimize errors in judgement and form which often crop out in a game. By so doing and in addition gathering several telling breaks in the game, the team prepared the way for its captain to become, temporarily, at least, the central figure in college football.

CANNOT COUNT ON ERRORS.

In the future contests football centers who oppose the B. C. eleven probably will not donate the points which ultimately prove the balancing factor in the score, and certainly B. C. cannot count on the opposition to commit fouls just when touchdowns seem in the making, as did Yale on two occasions, nor will the team always be graced by the poor judgment of opposing quarterbacks as was the case last week. Calling for rushes on fourth downs with several uncertain yards to go, and keeping his team in the soggy centre of the playing field when there were fairly wide strips of hard, dry turf along either side, constituted La Roche's big errors in the Yale game. He may have been under orders to do so but his prompt relegation to the third team would not indicate that.

Limited to a comparatively small squad and with no dormitory system or training table to aid the coach in keeping continual [illegible] its members Bee See, if it is to continue its success, cannot spend too much time fondling the laurels that were placed on its brow last week. The team is a comparatively light one, with a very limited number of real stars.

SPIRITED LINESMEN.

The lack of weight in the line is considerably overcome by the spirit and courage the linemen put into their play. As yet a rushing attack of inspiring quality has not been developed, due probably entirely to the fact that the squad lacks a broken field runner or a line plunger of natural ability. In the punting and drop kicking of Fitzpatrick, the centre play of Heaphy and the end work of Urban, the team possesses certain admirable assets, but its future success will depend almost entirely on the men working together and making their closely combined efforts offset individual shortcomings.

The Army team which will oppose Bee See on Saturday will be stronger than the one that barely defeated the University of Maine last week. Bee See, playing footbal as it did against Yale last week and developing a bit more concertation in its rushing offence, should win from the Army. The psychological effect of the recent Yale defeat should have a disheartening effect on the cadet eleven, and, unless Bee See men slip the tourniquets from their heads, the effect of last week's game upon them should greatly aid them in their work.

Faintly from Newton comes the chorus, "Here's hoping."

FEW YALE STARS IN TUFTS GAME SATURDAY

Coaches Driving Squad with Eye on Closing Contests with Tigers and Crimson

New Haven, Oct. 23.—Yale football [illegible] the salvation of the [illegible] of powerful players and the coaches feel that the three weeks remaining before the Princeton game are all too small for rounding them into a first class eleven.

With this viewpoint the coaches are attempting to improve the general mass of material looking to the Harvard and Princeton matches instead of having any reference to the Tufts game of Saturday. Orders were given today for another driving practice, in closing scrimmaging before the Tufts match.

MAY BE CHANGES.

The varsity eleven may be changed materially because of the plan to give the promising members of the first two elevens all the practice possible. Most of the players who are to be in the lineup Saturday will be kept out of the scrimmaging. The absence of the players, due to a wave of accidents and injuries for three weeks has left the varsity unable to score consistently, and its defeat by the scrubs indicates the loss of scoring power and the incompetent attack which has resulted.

Dr. Billy Bull has been told a new drop kicker must be developed to meet the situation created by the crippling of Thorne, Murphy and Jim Braden. He is at work on Jack French and the practice today will be largely devoted to developing a protective formation for French's toe work.

FRESHMAN STAR.

French was the star kicker of the freshman two seasons ago. He formerly played on the Pomfret School eleven and will be called upon against Tufts for both the distance and drop kicking.

New tackle combinations are being tried daily and the set which will face Tufts is uncertain. Dickens and Acosta were tried at tackle Tuesday and later Walker and Hamil. were sent in. Similarly Fred Graham was at end Tuesday and "Spider" Reinhardt was afterwards given the position. From the attention paid to Paul Crane and Malcolm Aldrich all the week, it is clear that Dr. Sharpe, Yale's head coach, is considering starting them as halfbacks against Tufts. They were the freshman baseball battery last Spring. Crane is a former Andover player and Aldrich came from the Fall River High School.

HERO OF BOSTON COLLEGE VICTORY OVER YALE

WHELAN SHIFTS LINEMEN AT TUFTS

Coach Seeking Best Combination to Send Against Yale Eleven Saturday

Coach Whelan again shuffled the cards in an effort to get the desired combination for the Yale game, with the result that Tufts' rushline and backfield were shifted from one end to the other.

The return of Otis Galloway was the most encouraging event of the week. The veteran tackle had been on the hospital list for three weeks.

His return was responsible for the shifting of Fazioli to guard, where he seemed more at home. Sellew, another of the cripples, was in the lineup, but not at tackle. The coach in an effort to bolster up the centre of the line, moved him to guard, making a [illegible] combination of Fazioli, Pryor and Sellew.

Beacham was placed at tackle, which position he played on the champion team of 1916. Captain Cahoon played at left end for a while.

BROWNE & NICHOLS BEAT WEST ROXBURY

Browne & Nichols won from West Roxbury High, 13 to 6, at Nichols Field, Cambridge. The Cambridge private school scored in the first and fourth periods, both of the touchdowns resulting from forward passes. West Roxbury High scored in the third period, following line plunges.

Ancients' Rifle Shoot

The annual rifle competition of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company will take place at the Wakefield range Saturday for the N. R. A. and company gold medals.

B. C. HAS STIFF DRILL IN PLAYS AND SIGNALS

Scanlon, Fullback, Likely to Be Absent from Lineup Against Army Saturday

A drill in signals and plays to be used Saturday against West Point was on the program for the Boston College football team today. In scrimmaging with the scrubs the varsity showed the same powerful attack that was evident in the Yale game.

Tom Scanlon, the plunging fullback, suffered a torn ligament near the knee in the Yale game and it is doubtful if he will be able to start the game Saturday. Heaphey and Corrigan have sore knees, while a few others have minor bruises, but the regular line-up will be nearly intact against Uncle Sam's boys.

Fitzpatrick gave a wonderful exhibition of punting when he last visited the Hudson, and this year he is kicking even better than then. The cadets who witnessed the game two years ago asserted that the punting of Fitzpatrick was sensational enough to outshine the brilliancy of their star, Oliphant.

CHAPMAN, CLEVELAND SHORTSTOP, TO WED

Cleveland, Oct 23.—Ray Chapman, the brilliant short fielder of the Cleveland Indians, is to marry Miss Katherine Marie Daly of this city October 29.

Tris Speaker is to be best man, while Tom Raftery of Boston, long ago a member of the Indian outfit, and for years an intimate friend of Ray, will act as an usher, along with Steve O'Neill, John Graney and Walter McNichol, the secretary of the club.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at Knights of Columbus Hall on Euclid avenue.

HARVARD SQUAD HAS LAST HARD SCRIMMAGE

Team Will Rest Up Tomorrow so as to Be Ready for Virginia Game Saturday

Harvard's grind for the Virginia game ended today. With the last hard scrimmage out of the way the varsity will be allowed to rest and spruce up to hand the speedy Southerners a back-handed welcome.

Eddie Casey and Ralph Horween are out of the game as far as Virginia is concerned. Arnold Horween's left limb is palpably halt, and the peachy kicking leg of Freday Church has lost its lift. Mitchell Gratwick is still limping, but Stan Burnham is ready.

Fisher has Dick Humphrey, Art Hamilton, Stan Burnham and Swede Nelson as his backfield Saturday, but the first named pair is making its intercollegiate football bow and may get stage fright in too closely a waged contest and turn comedy into tragedy. Both lads are sterling workmen but are only once removed from schoolboy experience.

NELSON MAY START.

Stan Burnham is the veteran of the backfield, and will be relieved to steady up the other two, although Captain Billy Murray at quarterback usually acts as a bracing tonic for the wavering back. Swede Nelson will probably act as first aid to any back who is injured or fails to impress the coach that he is trying. Nelson is the plunging type of halfback, and may on account of his experience get the starting call in place of Hamilton.

The remainder of the backfield lacks experience, and the coaches will hesitate to send them into the game if the score is a close one.

The freshman eleven managed to hold the varsity to two touchdowns during a forty-five minute scrimmage. Nelson made the first, after his mates had jammed their way sixty yards to the freshies' two-yard line. Joe Ryan gobbled up a loose ball, and ran to the yearlings' forty-yard line a reel later and then the same march was again filmed, but Humphrey was in the picture this time as the goal maker. The freshman blocked a kick on the varsity's eight-yard line, but with a goal only a giraffe's neck away from them watched Steele pick up the ball and race to midfield.

LOCKWOOD PROMOTED.

He was taken to the varsity squad and showed lots of high-powered action during scrimmage. Lockwood is an old Groton performer and kicked around with Duke Sedgwick, the varsity left guard, when both boys were prepping there. He is a strong guard and may play alongside his chum in some of the big games.

The Virginians are due tomorrow night and are expected to stop at the Hotel Lenox.

Harvard Tennis

Bob Lapman and Leon de Turenne, Californians, won the doubles tennis championship of Harvard, defeating Bob and Bill Rand, cousins, 3—6, 7—5, 6—3, 6—3, 6—4.

CORBETT'S COLUMN

Sammy Goldman, who manages Pete Herman, the king of bantams, asserts that Joe Lynch planned the use of a slab of cast iron to aid in whipping the champ in their recent bout in Bridgeport, Ct.

This is Goldman's story:

"Lynch climbed into the ring that night accompanied by about nine handlers. The usual quota is three. Right away my suspicions were excited and I told Tony Polozzolo, who is Pete's trainer, to keep his eyes on Lynch and his crowd, while I busied myself getting Pete's gloves on and shaping him for the fight.

"Tony sauntered over toward the Lynch corner, and although that army of handlers assumed it was making a screen for Lynch, Tony was able to poke his head through and watch what was going on.

"All of a sudden I heard a wild yell from Tony. I turned around and then rushed over to him. He was trying to plunge his way through the cordon of Lynch men. I followed after him, and Tony, all the while yelling, was able to point to the gloves of Lynch. And then I saw what the noise was about.

STICKING IN GLOVE.

"There was an edge of a piece of iron about the general size and thickness of half a horseshoe sticking out of Lynch's glove. Apparently the boys had tried to poke it in but Tony saw 'em before they could get away with it. Even as Tony and I were trying to reach Lynch, with some of his men trying to block us, one of the seconds nearest to him whipped out a knife, cut the laces and pulled out the piece of iron from the glove.

"That iron was about four inches long and so shaped that it fitted very snugly against the knuckles. One crack on the jaw with that piece of iron and Pete was done for. It would have floored Jack Dempsey if it caught him right.

"As the fellow grabbed the iron from the glove, I made a leap for him. So did Tony. But even as we reached him, he passed it to another fellow and that fellow passed it in turn to a third man, who jumped out of the ring and beat it down the aisle.

NEAR FREE-FOR-ALL.

"Rarely has there been a wilder time in a prize ring than that which immediately followed Tony's yell. The special police jumped into the ring; so did part of the ringside crowd, and I'll say that a wild time was had by all before the ring was cleared. No one really knew at the time what the furore was about, but I guess they thought it was some public fight and that anybody could get into it that wanted to.

"After the ring was cleared you can bet on it that we made a thorough examination of the gloves and the hands of Lynch. That boy had boasted before the fight that he would knock out Herman in a hurry and apparently he had decided that if he was to keep his boast he'd have to have iron help."

"Didn't Lynch out-point Herman by a mile in that fight?" Goldman was asked.

"Some papers said so—but they had it wrong," replied Goldman. "It's true that Lynch put up a great scrap. Fine fighter, that boy. And very aggressive, too. But he never had Pete in trouble at any time during the whole fight. But if Tony hadn't discovered that slab of scrap iron I'll inform the world that I wouldn't be managing a world's champion now."

FAVORITE BEATEN IN SAGE PARK RACING

Windsor, Ct., Oct. 23.—Favorites fell by the wayside and the second day of the Fall races at Sage Park not one of the horses figured to win their respective events landing in front.

First money in the 2.16 pace went to the Hartford sidewheeler, Earl D., the Earl of Chatham gelding coming from behind in each heat and nipping Bill Gentry at the wire. Johnny Skinner won the first two heats of the 2:19 trot, but the Connecticut trotter did not have enough speed to head Famous Nutwood in the remaining rounds.

Eddie Rowe made a straight heat victory out of the 2.14 trot, with the black mare Radiant, owned by H. L. Handy of Springfield, while Lord Lyndon easily was second best in the field.

COACH JACK SLATTERY OFF TO GOOD START

Jack Slattery saw his Harvard nine defeat South Boston All-Collegians, 3 to 0, on Soldiers Field in a seven inning game. The visitors failed to get a hit. Hardell, Bullard and Goode were the Harvard pitchers in battle. Sullivan, a left-hander, pitched for the losers.

Request Students to Support Team at Princeton Game.

With the Princeton game only two weeks off only forty Harvard undergraduates have applied for tickets in the Crimson cheering stands in the Palmer Stadium. Applications close tomorrow afternoon.

Bob Emmons, Norman Walker and Wendell Davis, captains respectively of the nine, hockey team and crew, appealed to the undergraduates in a public statement this morning. They urged the men to get tickets, as the football team would have a much better chance to win if supported from the side lines. Harvard had 600 cheerers at the Princeton game in 1913.

B. C. SENIORS TO HOLD FOOTBALL SMOKE TALK

The senior class at Boston College plans a smoke talk November 14, the night before Boston College lines up for its annual contest against its ancient rival, Holy Cross. The smoke talk will be held at the Boston City Club and it will take the form of a reception to the team and be a means of arousing enthusiasm for the game.

The senior class will be the hosts and will have as guests the faculty, the alumni and the undergraduates. The arrangements are in charge of Richard S. McShane, '20, who is chairman of the committee. Senator David I. Walsh probably will be the principal speaker.

TECH CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM IS SELECTED

Coach Frank M. Kanaly of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology cross country team has picked eight men to represent Tech in the big intercollegiate cross country run at Syracuse, N. Y., Saturday. They are as follows: Captain H. R. Dorr, C. L. Stone, D. F. Carpenter, W. K. MacMahon, E. J. Purcell, A. L. Flanders, G. R. Owens and H. J. Murray.

A trial run over the Belmont course in which a dozen of the most likely men on the squad took part decided the make-up of the team.

GIANT STARS SIGN FOR SUNDAY GAME

New York, Oct. 23.—The independent baseball championship of Manhattan will be decided in a six-game series between the Treat 'Em Roughs and the Lincoln Giants, which will be started with a double-header at Dyckman Oval, near the Dyckman street subway station, on Sunday afternoon. The Treat 'Em Roughs have been strengthened for the series. Guy Empey has engaged Jess Barnes of the Giants to pitch, and he will have Frank Frisch of the Giants at third base and Larry Doyle at second.

McQUARRIE RETURNS TO ARMY ELEVEN

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The Army midweek practice was featured by the return of some of the hospital squad to the play. McQuarrie, Schabacker and Blair were in the scrimmaging for a short period. Bredster, the big Wisconsin guard, is still hors de combat.

Bryan was shifted from tackle to guard. Kelly fitted in at Bryan's tackle position. At one of the wings Keefer, who has also been playing tackle was shifted. The later is fast and looked good.

RATNER AND O'DOWD TO BOX FOR TITLE

Bridgeport, Ct., Oct. 23.—Preliminary arrangements for the fifteen-round bout to a decision for the middleweight championship of the world to be staged either in this city or New Haven between Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul and Augie Ratner of New York were completed here at the Hotel Stratfield by Phil Brenstein and Paddy Mullens, managers of both boxers.

The weight announced was set at 158 pounds at 3 o'clock on day of the bout.

FORESMAN ELECTED HARRIER CAPTAIN

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 23.—Donald B. Foresman of Montclair, N. J., was elected captain of the 1919 Princeton cross-country team. Foresman is a member of the class of 1921, and last Spring won his letter as a distance man on the varsity track team. Princeton will enter seven men in the intercollegiate cross-country meet to be run in Syracuse next Saturday.

Shooters Busy.

Dual meets with Dartmouth on November 14 and with Yale on November 21 have been arranged by the management of the Harvard trapshooting team.

Football Games Wanted

The football team of the Trojan A. C. is desirous of meeting any uniformed 140-pound team in the State. Address communications to Manager Ryan, No. [illegible] Smith street, Roxbury.

BROWNS ARE OUT FOR EVERETT SCOTT

Ball Ready to Offer Two Star Boxmen in Exchange for Red Sox Shortstop

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—The report from Boston to the effect that Everett Scott of the Red Sox is seeking his release and that he insists upon being traded to some Western club, has stimulated Owner Phil Ball of the Browns to go after the star shortstop.

The Browns are well off as far as pitchers go, and a crop of clever youngsters who joined the team during the last stage of the campaign, will enable Ball to offer a couple of veteran twirlers in exchange for Scott.

This pair would include Shocker, one of the best spitball pitchers in the country today, and big Dave Davenport, who just at the present time is on the outs with the Brown management.

VIRGINIA WILL SEND LIGHT TEAM TO STADIUM

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 23.—In the final scrimmage before the Harvard game Virginia's varsity eleven was held to a 7 to 7 tie by the unbeaten freshman team.

Absent from the lineup, however, were four regulars — Wood, centre; Michie, end; Blackley, tackle, and Craig, halfback — all of whom were injured in last week's game with Virginia Military Institute.

The team that faces the Crimson will average only 165, the lightest Virginia has ever sent North: Hank- [illegible] Churchman and Parrish, guards, Clore and McGowan, tackles; [illegible] and Davis ends; Burnett quarterback; H. Rinehart and Kuyk, halfbacks, Captain Ray, fullback.

BALLROOM PRACTICE LATEST IN FOOTBALL

Football teams staying in New York over night before their games are developing into ball room outfits. The Williams eleven last week was housed in Manhattan the night before its game with Columbia, and they had signal practice on the ball room floor of the Hotel McAlpin after dinner. The practice, of course, was performed in stocking feet. The Harvard varsity team set the precedent for ball room signal drilling in 1913 when it used the McAlpin roof for that purpose on the eve of its Princeton game in New Jersey.

ELECT SIX MEN TO WATCH HARVARD FOOD

Undergraduates to see that the food and service are of the best in the college dining halls were elected at Harvard today. The successful six will serve with F. W. Hunnewell, secretary of the Harvard Corporation, Dr. Roger I. Lee of the department of hygiene and Morris Gray, secretary of student employment. Three students were to be elected from each of the two halls. The nominees were:

Memorial Hall, J. D. Chase, '22, M. W. Grady, 2L, R. H. Greenman Occ., D. C. Hyde, '20, L. S. Lacy, 2L, H. F. Nehlson, 1L, E. F. Rowse, '20, P. E. Schwab, 2L and E. B. Witte, '21.

Foxcroft Hall: S. M. Barg, '22, W. Canter, '20, D. Davis, 1L, A. Elliot, 1L, H. Shen, Sp., N. Jauregui, 1L, L. S. Steiner 1L, C. P. Swinnerton, '21.

LEXINGTON HIGH NINE DEFEATS STONEHAM

The Lexington High School Fall baseball team easily defeated the Stoneham High School nine, 15 to 5, on the Lexington Athletic Field. Adams, the Lexington pitcher, struck out fifteen batters and allowed only four scattered hits.

HOPPE BEATS SUTTON; SCHAEFER IS WINNER

New York, Oct. 23.—Willie Hoppe defeated George Sutton, 400 to 293 in five innings, in the eleventh game of the 18.2 tournament being held here.

Jake Shaefer played a remarkable game against Koji Yamada, running out in five innings.

Games Wanted.

The football team of Troop I, Winchester Boy Scouts, would like games with teams of 105 pounds weight. Games desired in Winchester, Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Half expenses given for eleven men. Address, Roger Sherman, manager, No. 14 Everett avenue, Winchester, phone Winchester 227-W.

CROOKEDNESS CHARGE IN SERIES NOT BASED ON FACT

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Winter baseball opened with a rush with Comiskey offering $10,000 to anyone who would furnish him legal proof that any of his players did not try to win the World's Series, with an insistent demand that the series be reduced again to seven games, and that the system of selling tickets be changed.

All this indicates that, in spite of the harm done the game by the World's Series the owners intend to continue that event and ignore the scandals.

[illegible]

Just before the start of the series I was [illegible] which has [illegible] kind [illegible] with some of the purveyors of the talk, I [illegible] the effect of making us watch those games closer than I ever have watched games before. After the fifth game Matty remarked to me:

"Have you seen anything wrong?"

NO CROOKED PLAYS.

"No, I have not seen a crooked move or an unnatural play in the series," I said.

"Neither have I," said Matty, "and I don't believe any ball player is a good enough actor to get away with it and not betray himself."

The [illegible] of the first game in Chicago half an hour before the contest started a man I have known for a long time as a close student of baseball and who never misses a series called me aside and said:

"Are you in?"

"In what?"

"On what's coming off."

"I'm not in on anything," I said rather angrily. "Where do you get that line of stuff? Every crook gambler around here has been talking fixed series. I never bet on a ball game in my life and never will, except for fun."

DENIED KNOWLEDGE.

"You needn't get sore," he said. "I wanted to give you a chance."

"You trying to tell me this game is crooked?"

"I ain't telling you anything," he said shortly. "Only you'll see the biggest first inning that ever happened in a World's Series."

After that big first inning I hunted him up. He denied knowing anything—said he had just been talking.

That is the way these things start. No one ever can run them down or get any proof. But the danger to baseball is just as acute as though the rumors were true. The fans are suspicious. It is little use to tell them that baseball is the hardest game in the world to fix, that players are honest, and that if one of them made a crooked move half the experts and all his fellow players would be wise in a minute.

The tremendous betting on the series and the huge receipts furnish food for the suspicious ones.

CANNOT BE IGNORED.

The point I make is that the club owners and officials are making a mistake in trying to ignore such talk. They owe it to the players [illegible] and to the sport [illegible] own business to go to the bottom of it and find out the truth. The newspapers, of course, are cautious about mentioning such things, but it is not hard to tell what thousands are saying. The ugly talk is all over the country. I have received telegrams and letters from Iowa, Missouri and two places in Illinois asking whether to pay off bets on the series.

It is a pretty rotten break at Moran's crowd of hard working, hustling fellows, who played so hard to gain their honors, to have their title smeared over in that way.

Let's see—the World's Series winners get more than $5,000 each, the losers over $3,500, and the members of third place teams get around $550.

Twenty years ago the average player received around $1,800 for his season's work. Anson, acting as first baseman, champion batter, manager, captain, secretary and bat boy, received $2,400 a year.

ALWAYS KICKING.

Fifteen years ago the players were talking of striking because there was a clause in the contracts requiring them to pay $30 a year for their uniforms. Now they are kicking because the money given to second and third place teams was not taken out of the owners' end of the spoils instead of the players. Truly, it is hard to satisfy some people.

Did it ever strike you that the financial part of baseball has come to be bigger than the sport itself? If you doubt it, read the sporting sheets. During the recent series the money received was played up in black type and, in many of the reports, it was given more prominence than Roush's catches or Eller's pitching.

But to pleasanter subjects. There is a fellow out in Chicago named Papathu [illegible] who is trying to break into the Big Leagues. He asked Bill Veeck, president of the Cubs, for a [illegible] in the Spring, but Bill did not have a contract long enough for him to sign. He remarked, however, that if he could hit the length of his name he'd try him out. The matter was referred to the baseball writers who promptly voted to have him stood against the wall and all the vowels shot out of his name. Can you imagine what a printer would do with that name in a box score?

WON ON HUNCH.

Whether you believe in hunches or not, listen to this.

Prior to the series I was doping the probable results—the figures, of course, being based upon official averages, and I received a letter. This letter was from Toledo. The writer was a stranger. He said he was a White Sox fan. He had a friend or relation in Toledo. This man was an invalid, bedridden and blind for many years. In youth, he had been quite a baseball fan but when stricken with disease had forgotten the game. The women of his family read the newspapers to him every day, but for years had not read him the sporting news, imagining that it would recall his own athletic days.

The White Sox fan had visited the invalid and had by chance read to him of the approaching World's Series. The invalid had been intensely interested. Two days later the blind and helpless man had called the White Sox fan and very calmly told him that the Reds would win the first and second games, the White Sox the third, the Reds the fourth, the Sox the next two and the Reds the final.

The Sox fan, who declared he wasn't a bit superstitious, decided to bet that way. The day after the series he came around to say good-by, carrying a bank roll that looked like a rug. He was on his way to Toledo to get some more dope.

Frazee Says No Offer Has Been Made for Red Sox

New York, Oct. 23.—President Harry H. Frazee of the Red Sox [illegible] that he is [illegible] the sale of the club to a Boston syndicate.

"I have never received an offer from [illegible]," says Frazee, "and I am not negotiating for the sale of the club with anyone.

"The club is not in the market and I cannot understand the basis for the present report."

TIPLITZ IN SHAPE FOR BATTLE WITH JOEY FOX

Joe Tiplitz, Philadelphia lightweight, arrived in town today and is reported to be in excellent trim for his go with Joey Fox at the Atlas Club in Lawrence Saturday afternoon. Because of his long ring experience Tiplitz hopes to upset the [illegible] by beating Fox. The Britisher, although beaten in this town because of lack of condition when he fought Terry Martin, comes full of confidence this time and may surprise a lot of the wise ones. His recent showing against [illegible] proved that he ranks among the high steppers and if Tiplitz is to win he will have to display everything in his boxing bag.

Battling Reddy of New York and Al Shubert of New Bedford will mingle in the second ten-rounder, and judging from past performances should give the fans plenty of excitement. Red Tigent of Waterbury will oppose Pal Reed of Boston in another ten-rounder. Tigent did most of his boxing while in the army but will have to perform like a champion to travel the distance with Reed. The local boy's recent victory over George Robinson has put him in line for bouts with the best in the country and he should have no trouble in disposing of his opponent. Barney Adair of New York and Chick Sinclair of Scranton should furnish plenty of action in the fourth ten-rounder.

BENTLEY SCHOOL WINS FROM TECH FRESHMEN

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance football team took a fall out of the Technology freshmen, 7 to 0, at Tech Field. Bentley's score came in the last minute of play when Anderson, left end, scooped up a Tech fumble in midfield and raced for a touchdown.

Tech never had a chance to score. The closest they came was in the final quarter when a series of end runs brought the ball to their opponents' 25-yard line. Bentley then held for downs.

DARTMOUTH SCRUBS SCORE TWICE ON VARSITY

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 23.—Practice for the Dartmouth squad consisted mainly of a scrimmage between the varsity and scrubs. In order to strengthen his defence, Coach Spears gave the ball to the second team on the regulars' 16-yard mark, subjecting the varsity line to a continuous hammering throughout the scrimmage. The scrubs twice carried the ball across the line.

McCOY TOP LINER AT CRESCENT A. C. SHOW

Boxes Roy Moore in 12-Round Main Bout Tonight; Corbett to Meet O'Toole

By JACK CONWAY.

Benny McCoy, Baltimore bantamweight, and Roy Moore of St. Paul, will furnish the [illegible] in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Crescent A. C. of Lowell tonight. These boxers are rated with the best bantamweights in the country, and should furnish the fans with plenty of thrills.

Besides being a fast, clever boxer, Moore packs a kayo wallop. He proved this when he stopped Johnny Ertle. Matchmaker Ted Leary was fortunate in being able to get his services at this time, when the St. Paul youth is in big demand by the clubs throughout the West.

Moore is also credited with newspaper decisions over Pal Moore, Frankie Mason and Pete Herman.

McCoy has been an active campaigner in Eastern rings. He has engaged in torrid battles with Joe Lynch, Pete Herman, Memphis Pal Moore, Frankie Burns and Jack Sharkey.

There will also be an eight-round semi-final and a couple of six-session frolics.

Willie Corbett, [illegible] boxer, and Tootsie O'Toole of South Boston will clash in the semi-final bout of eight rounds at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night. Johnny Sullivan, South Boston lightweight, was originally looked to exchange blows with Young Vierra of New Bedford. It was necessary to call off this match when Sullivan received an injury to one of his eyes while training.

There is considerable interest in the final whirl of twelve rounds which will be between Paul Doyle of this city and Billy Carney, New Bedford welterweight. Doyle has been a steady winner in local rings. By his victories over Young Goula, Chick West, Joe Welsh and Walter Butler he proved he is one of the best men of his weight in the East. Carney is a rugged two-handed fighter and is sure to carry his opponent along at a lively clip.

Young Goula, Woonsocket welterweight, and Charley Petts of Australia will clash in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Casino A. C. of Lynn tonight. Goula is a strong, willing youth, while Petts comes here with a good reputation as a boxer.

Harry Carlson, Brockton lightweight, and Jack Russo of New Orleans will furnish the thrills in a twelve-round contest at Rockland this p. m. These boys recently clashed at Brockton and went twelve rounds to a draw.

Benny Murphy announces he is now manager of Fred Dyer, the Australian welterweight. Dyer reports that he is in good condition and that he will soon be prepared to meet all comers in this section of the country.

Murphy, by the way, is also manager of Frankie Callahan, Brooklyn lightweight. Callahan has had a long rest and will resume boxing in a month. Murphy bashfully remarked that the Brooklyn boxer will then be prepared to kayo Young Kirby.

At Manchester, N. H., tomorrow night, Tony Vatlan of Brighton and Young Chakas will go over the jumps in a twelve-round contest.

The Wicked Marquis

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Love and Revenge Centre About an Agreeable English Aristocrat of the Old School

What Has Happened

The Marquis of Mandeleys, an English nobleman of a type of days gone by, finds himself nearly bankrupt from law cases against Richard Vont, the occupant of a cottage on his estate who refuses to vacate his own property. The Marquis' solicitor informs him that the sum of eighteen thousand pounds is needed to settle the court bills and that it would be useless to make another appeal, even to the House of Lords. A young woman speaks to the Marquis in the grill room of the Savoy and he snubs her. David Thain, a young American millionaire, protege of the Duchess, is introduced to the Marquis. The Marquis relates to Thain how he took the daughter of Vont away with him. After luncheon he calls on Marcia Hannaway. She tells him that the allowance he has made her has not been paid recently and he has a row with his solicitor about it. Thain is given a dinner party after which the Marquis tells Thain he would like to make a million dollars without trouble to himself and with no chance of loss. Thain suggests oil stock. Marcia tells her publisher, James Borden, that she cannot marry him. She decides to go to Mandeleys [illegible] to see her father, Richard Vont. [illegible] visits his box [illegible] The Marquis tells his [illegible] he has bought 40,000 [illegible] worth of oil shares.

DAVID THAIN duly arrived. He shook hands with the Marquis and was [illegible] presented to Mr. Wadham.

"Mr. Wadham [illegible] —or rather [illegible] representative of the firm who conduct my affairs," the Marquis explained. "I have just handed him over my shares in the [illegible] company for safe keeping."

"Very glad to [illegible] Mr. Thain," the [illegible] observed reverently [illegible] "One reads a great deal of financial exploits [illegible] newspapers just now."

"I really can't see," David replied, "that your pressmen are much better over here than in the States. In any case, Mr. Wadham, you mustn't believe all you read."

"You will give my regards to your father and the other members of your firm," the Marquis concluded [illegible] towards the door. "I shall probably have some [illegible] interesting nature to [illegible] with regard to [illegible] at any rate [illegible] estate mortgages. A [illegible] Thank you. Very much obliged for [illegible] Mr. Wadham."

The [illegible] somewhat [illegible] left [illegible] sense of [illegible] The Marquis glanced at [illegible]

"I am a [illegible] Mr. Thain [illegible] walk to [illegible] you give me [illegible] company?"

"Anywhere you [illegible]" sented. "There was [illegible] matter I wanted to mention—nothing important."

"Precisely [illegible] the Marquis [illegible] take [illegible] My daughter would [illegible] and I [illegible] Marcia [illegible] [illegible] doubtful reply.

"See that cocktails are served before [illegible] the Marquis [illegible] You see we are not altogether ignorant of the habits of your countrymen, Mr. Thain, even if [illegible] we may not ourselves have adopted them. A cocktail [illegible] nourishment."

Thain indulged [illegible] He threw [illegible] and the little lines at the sides of his eyes wrinkled up with [illegible] joy. [illegible]

"I [illegible] the [illegible] Mr. Thain [illegible]

"To tell you the truth, my dear," the Marquis replied quite honestly, "I [illegible] little ignorant [illegible] I am afraid that its humor depended solely upon a certain environment which I was able to conjure [illegible]

"I came to see you," he announced, "upon a different matter."

CHAPTER XI.

THE MARQUIS was occupied for several minutes in exchanging greetings with passing acquaintances. As soon as they were alone again, he reverted to his companion's observation.

"There was a matter, I think, you said, Mr. Thain, which you wished to discuss with me."

"I was going to ask you about Broomleys," David replied.

The Marquis was puzzled.

"Broomleys? Are you referring [illegible] [illegible] of that [illegible]"

"I [illegible] so."

"But [illegible] dear Mr. Thain, you surprise [illegible]" the Marquis declared. "What [illegible] of Broomleys?"

"I [illegible] I have explained," David could [illegible] spent this last week [illegible] There I [illegible] [illegible] him that I would [illegible] take a [illegible] house in the neighborhood. I motored over [illegible] at his suggestion to see Broomleys and [illegible] showed me over. [illegible] leaving within a few days, I [illegible]"

[illegible] the Marquis observed [illegible] I had [illegible] forgotten the fact [illegible]

[illegible] He was glad of a [illegible] [illegible]

"You are a man of modest tastes, Mr. Thain," the Marquis observed. "The fact that you are unmarried, however, of course renders an establishment a [illegible] unnecessary [illegible] You will bear in mind, so far as regards the rent of Broomleys, Mr. Thain, that the house is furnished."

"Very uncomfortably but very attractively furnished from what I saw," David assented.

"I REALLY cannot blame the chap for getting a bit hot over the situation," he mused. "Had I been in his shoes I would have been vexed too. But now he is gone and we can drop him and his behavior from our minds. In a few days Desiree will have forgotten all about him."

With this comforting reflection he went to bed and to sleep.

Desiree too, spent an hour in deep thought—although she went to bed and put out her light before letting her thoughts dwell on her recent dispute with her father.

She tried to convince her conscience that she had been in the wrong—but her efforts were vain. She felt she had been right in resenting her father's sneers at a man who had been his faithful employe.

[illegible] appreciated that taking this line of argument she was not dealing honestly with herself. She had championed Smith because she cared for him.

In the [illegible] of her [illegible] [illegible] rush to her [illegible] the admission, but she [illegible] trusted Smith entirely. She longed to see him again.

[illegible] had said that his [illegible] was not [illegible] She could scarcely credit this statement yet her father had [illegible] certain of what [illegible] She would die sooner [illegible] explanation. And [illegible] [illegible] as affectionate as [illegible] goodness [illegible] she loved her parent. He was all she had. In spite of her indignation at his attitude, she must remember her duty to him. She would show by her manner that she loved him and did not harbor any ungracious sentiment toward him.

This hour of communing resulted in a pleasant and affectionate interchange of greetings at the breakfast table the following morning. After which Leighton expressed regret that he had not yet engaged a new chauffeur so that his daughter might use the car today.

"I stopped at the garage to see if they knew of a good man there," he went on. "But the only chap who had applied was one that Smith mentioned to me yesterday. He handed me the fellow's name and address."

Desiree's heart gave a quick bound. This man knew Smith—was perhaps, in touch with him and might possibly talk of him and his present whereabouts! She tried to speak calmly.

"Why not engage him?"

"Because I do not care to take a man recommended by Smith," was the [illegible] answer.

Desiree was silent, but a shade of disappointment crossed her face. Her father saw it.

"You want me to engage him?" he demanded.

Her voice was indifferent. "I [illegible] like to use the car today if we had a chauffeur—but never mind."

[illegible] Leighton said, "Perhaps I may look up the man's credentials. After all Smith did not know [illegible] the fellow asked him about a job and said that he could furnish good references. Since you wish it, I will see about him today."

"Oh, not on my account," Desiree said hastily. "I take so little exercise it might be a good thing for me to do without the car for a while and walk every day."

Leighton gazed at her, puzzled by her change of attitude. He could not know that since learning that the suggested chauffeur was not even an acquaintance of Smith's, she did not care whether her father engaged him or not.

A Daily Recipe

By MONSIEUR CHARLES A. PERRAUDIN, Delmonico's Chef

Hollandaise Sauce

Reduce two spoonfuls of vinegar on which a coffeespoonful of white pepper has been added; remove from the fire and pour in about two spoonfuls of cold water, five egg yolks, two ounces of butter, salt, grated nutmeg, cook on a very slow fire, stirring the contents constantly with a wire egg beater, and as soon as the sauce becomes consistent add fresh butter divided in small parts, until six ounces have been used; squeeze lemon juice according to taste. Should the sauce become too thick little water should be added. Strain through a cheese cloth, keep in a warm place or in a bain-marie, stir it again and serve.

Household Suggestions

To banish ants from the house and kill those that remain, there is no better way than the old one of brushing thoroughly all the cracks and crevices infested by the insects with a hot solution of alum and water. Two pounds of alum should be dissolved in three quarts of water and allowed to stand until the alum is dissolved. It should be boiling hot while it is being used. All household insects disappear before this simple treatment.

To keep silk blouses white, always wash them in cold water. Make a good lather with soap and warm water, and allow this to get quite cold before putting the blouses into it; then to the rinsing water add just a little methylated spirit. Iron the garments while still wet.

To wash knitted stockings, make a lather of boiling water and soap, and when cool wash the stockings in it. Rinse them well in clean water, wring them lightly in a cloth, pull out into their right shape and dry in the open air.

To prevent artichokes from turning black when they are cooked, add a little vinegar to the water in which they are boiled. A teaspoonful will be sufficient for a small quantity.

Thin linen blinds may be rendered stronger by pasting narrow tape down each.

"Business"—The Magic Talisman, Which Letteth a Man Out of All Those Things Which He Doth Not Wish to Do, and Provideth Him With an Excuse for All Those Things Which He Desireth to Do.

Copyright, 1919, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

VERILY, verily, my Daughter, there be three words in every man's vocabulary, which are an abomination in his Wife's ears and a red flag to her spirit.

And the first of these is "Where," with which her ears are assaulted morning and evening, when he searcheth for his THINGS.

And the second is "Listen!" wherewith he prefaceth all his wise counsels and admonitions and priceless "advice."

And the third is "BUSINESS!"

For, lo, "business" is the mantle which covereth all a man's sins and shortcomings; the peg on which he hangeth all his excuses and apologies; the roller-coaster whereon he slideth out of all his unpleasant obligations; the drawbridge over which he escapeth the consequences of all his follies!

Go to! Go to!

What man pleadeth indulgence for a forgotten promise or a broken engagement, upon the grounds that he hath been SO absorbed in Religion, or in love, or in politics? But when he speaketh the magic word "Business," lo, all is forgiven him.

Behold, "Business" enticeth a man out of the office during business hours, and keepeth him "tied to the office" AFTER business hours.

Business requireth him to sit up until midnight, upon Saturday evenings, playing poker with his clients—and to sleep until noon upon Sunday mornings when the family goeth to church.

Business keepeth him away from his wife's teas, and from dull dinner parties, but taketh him out upon the golf links and to the lodge and to the club, that he may foregather with OTHER "business men."

Business requireth him to take the firm's PRETTIEST stenographer to luncheon, and to feed her upon partridge and alligator pear.

Verily, verily, Business is the magic talisman, which letteth a man out of all those things which he doth not wish to do, and provideth him with an excuse for all those things which he DESIRETH to do.

And, in all the days of her life, NO wife shall ever discover whether "BUSINESS" is a blonde or a brunette, a golf game, a poker party, a pinochle tournament or an honest day's work!

SELAH

For the Dainty Woman

By Rita Stuyvesant

ALL femininity has turned its thoughts toward pajamas. More lovely than ever are the latest models and there is a strong tendency to choose the loose Mandarin styles in preference to the fluffy, lacy kind. Pajamas for lounging often replace negligee, and, worn by the small, dainty woman, they are decidedly smart. Delicate silks and satins in light and pastel colors are fashioned into dainty pajamas and even black is found among the ultra-smart creations.

Of true Oriental beauty was a pair of black satin pajamas embroidered in gold and silver thread. The loose Mandarin coat fell almost to the knees and was outlined in the silver. Great motifs of gold in Chinese design traced their beauty over the front and there was a bit of the embroidery on the three-quarter sleeves.

Very charming and quaint, too, were the trousers worn with the Mandarin coat. Straight and slim they were, with gold embroidery crawling up the sides. These were the step-in model and hugged the waist with an elastic.

The black and sombre hued pajamas are liked for lounging about the boudoir. For sleeping one [illegible] lighter colors.

Salmon and pale blue washable satin combined to fashion another lovely suit of pajamas that were delightfully feminine. These were also in two parts, a slip-on blouse and cunning trousers. The upper was a square of salmon satin, bordered in blue ribbon hemstitched to place. The underarms were laced together with thin silk cord, prettily tasseled in blue.

When the garment was slipped over the head through the square neck, smart little sleeves were formed.

The trousers lent themselves gracefully to this pleasing color scheme and there were deep cuffs of blue ribbon at the bottom of the salmon satin that were most effective.

Lovely enough to suit the most fastidious feminine taste was another model cut in one piece from the neck to the tips of the dainty toes. Fresh pink georgette, filet fancy admiring feminists and reserved [illegible] for this smart creation. The neck was outlined by a soft frill of the filet and the frills at the ankles were also lace trimmed. Winsomely attractive was the two-tone ribbon that tied itself in fetching little bows at the breast and ankles. It showed its flesh face to fancy admiring femininity and reserved its other side of pale orchid tint to the close observer who turned it over.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

A SHAMPOO WORTH TRYING

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, which can be obtained from any druggist's, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisment.

La-May Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

A specialist has at last perfected a pure face powder that positively will not cause enlarged pores, blackheads and irritations. In fact, while it is considered the best face powder, it is also a remedy for complexion troubles. It is guaranteed pure and harmless to the most delicate baby skin. It beautifies wonderfully because it helps to clear and lighten the skin and protect the complexion from blemishes. This new kind of face powder is made largely of an ingredient that skin specialists use in the treatment of the complexion. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. Of course, saying this, every one knows we mean the famous La-may Powder (French, Poudre L'Ame). This is the powder that does not contain starchy rice powder or dangerous white lead to make it adhere. White lead is a deadly poison and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that makes enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder irritations. Because La-may is so pure and because it stays on so well it is now used by over a million American women. All dealers carry the large box, and many dealers also carry the small trial size. Be sure to try La-may. Then you will really know a perfect face powder. You will be sorry if you take a substitute. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion, you will understand why La-may so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in America. Says There's Nothing Like Howard's Buttermilk Cream for Beautifying the Complexion

This Good Looking Young Woman Advises Old Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream in a New Way—A Gentle Massage with Fingers Before Retiring All That Is Necessary.

The old-time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms.

Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's" Buttermilk Cream.

No matter whether you are troubled with wrinkles, hard little lines around the mouth and eyes, coarse, sallow, faced looking skin, or simply roughness and redness caused by wind and sun, you will find that all these trials quickly disappear with the use of this old-fashioned beauty recipe brought up to date.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Howard's Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."

LEO DITRICHSTEIN, credited with being the greatest lover on the American stage, who admits that he is ignorant of women. He opens at the Tremont Theatre Monday in a play of intense love-making.

STAGE LOVER IS IGNORANT OF WOMEN

The greatest lover on the American stage knows very little about women and always travels with his wife. This is the paradox presented by Leo Ditrichstein, who would like to play other roles than that of the eternal lover, if the public would let him.

Some are born lovers, some become lovers and some have love making thrust upon them. The last is the case of Ditrichstein, who has more methods of thrilling his feminine spectators than an income tax dodger has of evading the law.

The season before last he struck, and gave a powerful performance of Calderon de la Barca's "The Judge of Zalamea," which was highly praised by the critics, but the public said:

"Never mind about that; give us more love-making."

He has responded with a play, the very frame and fabric of which is philandering. This is "The Marquis de Priola," by Henri Lavedan, built around a characterization of degenerate manhood and lost opportunities such as has not been seen since the Baron de Chevrial of Richard Mansfield. It opens at the Tremont Theatre next Monday.

Yet the modest Mr. Ditrichstein declares:

"Women are a closed book to me. My experience off stage with them has been so limited that I confess I know very little about them."

SECOND SERIES OF CITIZENSHIP LECTURES

Women of Greater Boston are taking an intense interest in politics, as evidenced by their eagerness for citizenship instruction from the Boston League of Women Voters, according to a statement issued today. A second course of citizenship lectures will be given, starting October 29, when Mrs. William Healy will speak on "How Massachusetts Cares for Her Socially Unfit." Albanian, Jewish and Italian groups are being formed, and the first of two lectures for Armenian women will be given at the Sherwin School, Roxbury, October 28. Mrs. Ida Porter Boyer will discuss "Women's Interest in Citizenship."

PLAN DRIVE FOR RHODE ISLAND'S $100 BONUS

Providence, Oct. 23.—Military organizations are arranging a Statewide campaign in the interest of the $100 bonus for service men promised by Governor Beeckman, who stated he would recommend a bond issue of $2,500,000 by referendum the first week of the General Assembly in January. It is understood that Frederick S. Peck, chairman of the House Finance Committee, has already laid plans for printing bonds that there may be no delay in paying the men after the election and positively before the General Assembly adjourns.

RIDICULE 6-CENT FARE THREAT IN PROVIDENCE

Providence, Oct. 23.—The receivers operating the street car system in the State were charged with "preserving a plum for reorganization purposes" in demanding $1,300,000 as a replacement reserve fund and the threat to discontinue operation was ridiculed by attorneys representing nine cities and towns, before the Supreme Court asking that the order of Judge Vincent, who allowed a six-cent fare, be vacated. Court adjourned to Friday when it is expected a decision will be given.

FORBES-ROBERTSON TO APPEAR AT WELLESLEY

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson will give a reading of "Hamlet" to Wellesley students on Saturday, November 1. The actor has announced that he will soon retire to give all of his time to painting. He retired from the stage in England five years ago. He is accompanied on his present tour by Lady Forbes-Robertson, formerly Gertrude Elliot of this country and a sister of Maxine Elliot.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN OCTOBER 23, 1919. BOSTON

Injustice to the Teachers Shown by Some Examples

Last Sunday's Boston Advertiser published a most impressive list of cases illustrating the hardships of our public school teachers under their present wages. No editorial in this column could preach a more vigorous lesson concerning the injustice of a standard of wages which permits some of these cases.

The American publishes this list as part of its editorial in behalf of an immediate increase in the wages of teachers. The story of our clergy can be told just as graphically and doubtless will be in this newspaper or in the Advertiser shortly. The community ought not to rest until every injustice for which it is responsible has been corrected.

CASE I.

Age: 45 years.
Years of teaching: 22.
Years of teaching in Boston: 6.
Family: Wife and three children (ages 14 to 18 years).
Salary $2.322
Other income:
By 1. Taking a boarder.
2. Teaching in S. A. T. C.
3. Singing in choir.
4. Summer camp work....... 700

Total income.................... $3,022
Expenses: About.................... $3,400
Excess of expenses over salary: About. $1,000
Savings: None.
Luxuries: Practically reduced to none.

Remarks—

Pay no rent (wife owns house free of mortgage).

Very low tax rate (only $75 on increased rate).

No auto, theatre, concerts, books, music lessons for children, or trips that cost fares.

No servant (wife does housework).

No clothing that is not absolutely essential.

No food but the plainest and cheapest.

My daughter is going to college (Radcliffe, living at home) only by use of my wife's small inheritance from her teacher-father.

No money through inheritance or through wife.

Margin of physical and nervous strength does not justify regular Summer* or night work.

No possible means in sight of making college career for children possible.

Though my boys have some musical talent, only the barest smattering of training is possible.

Attend perhaps one good play a year. Not possible to give self and family the advantages of concerts, lectures, magazines, special books, etc.

All extras practically cut out of diet, together often with an undue reduction in fruit and meat elements.

Regular dress frequently more shabby than that of many boys in classes.

Parsimonious support of church and various normal calls of community and group life.

Am about to give up $5,000 of short term life insurance which increasing cost of living has prevented my converting into some other form as I had hoped to do.

Only acquisition during sixteen years of married life is a small Summer place which represents an equity of several hundred dollars—merely the accumulation of what would naturally be the very modest expenditures of Summer vacations. This place is 90 miles from Boston, a mile from any church or store, but stands as the only probable INDEPENDENT shelter of old age. Debts at present time totalling more than the equity of this Summer place, remaining unpaid because, after all possible economies, the increasing cost of living has eaten up every margin worked for.

CASE II.

Age: 36.
Years of teaching: 12.
Years of teaching in Boston: 6.
Family: Wife and two children.
Salary $2,322
Other income:
By 1. Teaching in evening school.
2. Summer work at the State House.
3. Giving examinations for Mass. Civil Ser. Com.
4. Correcting papers at Boston University.
5. Correcting papers at the Northeastern College.
6. Conducting course for Board of Education............ 450

Total income.................... $2,772
Expenses for frugal living, taxes, interest, clothing and church: About.. $2,990
Excess of expenses over salary: About $600
Savings: None. About $100 drawn from bank to pay bills. Only $4 left in the bank.

Luxuries:
a. Took my wife to the theatre last Christmas.
b. Carry a mortgage of $5,500.

Remarks—
a. More children (cannot finance them).
b. Pay a $40 doctor's bill of more than a year's standing.
c. Buy magazines.
d. Buy books.
e. Have my teeth filled (go to dentist once a year for cleaning).
f. Buy my wife some clothes. (She will this Winter wear a fur coat I bought for her in 1911.)
g. Buy cloth for my children's clothes instead of accepting it from relatives.
h. Buy the furniture for my parlor. (I have a rug on the floor and one chair. The room is kept closed).

CASE III.

Age: 40 years.
Years of teaching: 19.
Years of teaching in Boston: 11.
Family: Mother, wife and four children (ages 7 to 15 years).
Salary $2,772
Other income: None.
Expenses: About.................... 3,000
Excess of expenses over salary: About $225

Remarks—
Earned way through college and one year of post-graduate work.

CASE IV.

Age: 38 years.
Years of teaching: 16.
Years of teaching in Boston: 10.
Family: Wife.
Salary $2,772
Other income: About.............. 2,000

Total income.................... $4,772
Excess of expenses over salary....... $2,000
Expenses exactly equalled by income.

CASE V.

Age: 46 years.
Years of teaching: 23.
Years of teaching in Boston: 9.
Family: Wife and one child (only ordinary obligations).
Salary $2,772
Other income.................... 120

Total income.................... $2,892
Expenses 3,050
Excess of expenses over salary: About $275

CASE VI.

Age: 43 years.
Years of teaching: 19.
Years of teaching in Boston: 10.
Family: Wife, three children, father and mother.
Salary $2,772
Other income: About.............. 200

Total income: About............ $2,972
Expenses: About.................. $3,025
Excess of expenses over salary...... $250

CASE VII.

Age: 35 years.
Years of teaching: 12.
Years of teaching in Boston: 7.
Family: Wife and three children (ages 1 to 7).
Salary $2,484
Other income:
1. Summer camp.............. 325
2. Work on textbooks.......... 140
3. Income from property........ 324

Total income.................... $3,273
Expenses: About.................. 3,100
Excess of expenses over salary....... $616

The remarks under cases 4, 5, 6 and 7 have been omitted, but they merely amplify the cases cited above and show clearly how grossly inadequate is the present wage of a teacher.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—When the night is over and the day is breaking I love to listen to the church bells ringing in the churches nearby announcing the birth of a new day or the opening of services. And many a night at the Pennsylvania station I have uttered a silent prayer for the man who rings the bells, and I beg you, dear K. C. B., not to be annoyed at the ringing of the bells, for there is an old saying, "'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good." So please listen when the bells are ringing and think for a moment that somebody is waiting for the message they bring.

I know, K. C. B., that if you could you wouldn't stop the bells and shut out of the hearts of those who work at night and in the early morning the thoughts of God that come with the music of the bells.

Pennsylvania Station. C. J. K.

WHOEVER YOU are.
YOU'VE MADE me ashamed
OF THE silly thing.
I WROTE of the bells.
• • •
AND OF course I intended.
THAT YOU should know.
THAT THE lines I wrote.
WERE JUST foolish lines.
BUT IT happens sometimes.
IN THE daily grind.
THAT WE miss the mark.
AND JUST for myself.
I WANT to say.
THAT WHEN I do.
IT IS my prayer.
I WILL always have.
THE COURAGE it needs.
TO ADMIT my wrong.
AND I want you to know.
THAT IN the morning.
THAT FOLLOWED the day.
THAT YOUR letter came.
I WAS lying awake.
AND FROM my window.
THAT LOOKS to the east.
I COULD see the glow.
OF THE coming day.
AND AS I looked.
THE BELLS rang out.
AND I thought of you
WHEREVER YOU are
IN THE great stone pile.
JUST ACROSS the street.
FROM WHERE I lay.
AND I thought of the others.
TO WHOM the bells.
SEND OUT the news.
THAT IN spite of strife.
AND IN spite of grief.
AND IN spite of greed.
AND VICIOUSNESS.
THAT THERE still remained.
IN AN upset world.
THE PROMISE made.
THAT WHOEVER should come.
AND COMMUNE with Him.
SHOULD THERE find peace.
FOR HIS weary soul.
AND SO it is.
THAT WHOEVER you are.
WHO WRITES to me.
FROM ACROSS the way.
I WANT you to know.
THAT I am glad.
YOU HAVE humbled me.

I THANK you.

Prince Faced by the Puzzle—Whom Shall He Wed?

THE PRINCE OF WALES finds himself in a perplexing situation. It has been officially decided that he must marry, in order that the Royal Family of Great Britain may be provided with heirs.

Who will be the Prince's bride?

This is perhaps the most interesting question in the world today from the society point of view. For times have changed, and it is already certain that the Prince, whatever else he may do, will not be allowed to marry a princess of a foreign royal dynasty.

The royal houses of Europe, history shows, have been cursed since their foundation by the custom of intermarriage. Undesirable mental and physical traits, augmented by their transmission from generation to generation, show themselves today in the persons of many of the royal scions. It is for this reason that England has decided that her Prince of Wales must marry into a different class.

The Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser contains a full page, with illustrations, dealing with this interesting question.

Do some women love brutality in men? It is an ancient theory, and scientists believe that the affection which acts of brute cruelty provoke in the hearts of certain women is a survival of the old days of marriage by capture, when the prospective wife was simply knocked on the head by the ardent male and carried off in triumph to his cave.

However, that may be, Charlotte Walker, actress of note, the wife of Eugene Walter, the playwright, has fallen in love again with her husband, against whom she had been contemplating divorce proceedings, all because her husband, in a moment of anger, is declared to have felled a pretty motion picture actress, Miss Nina Whitmore, with a blow of his fist.

Miss Whitmore is asking damages of $50,000 for the alleged attack, and Miss Walker has taken her place beside her husband, declaring she will offer him every aid and support during the trial of the case.

Read this remarkable psychological study in next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Number Three in the "American Girl in Paris" series, the beautiful portraits painted by Henry Clive for the cover illustration of the Boston Sunday Advertiser's Magazine Section, will please all readers. The Champs Elysees is the setting for this portrait.

The comics this week are cleverer, funnier than ever. Don't fail to enjoy them with your Boston Sunday Advertiser.

If kept waiting too long, you lose interest. You would have been interested a year ago if anybody had said: "You will soon have Emperor William in London on trial for his life."

Yesterday Bonar Law, in the House of Commons, announced that the Emperor would be put on trial as soon as all the Peace League details were settled, and nobody pays the least attention.

Like the little boy at the circus, we have passed on to the next cage. The rip-roaring gorilla of 1914 no longer interests us, we want to see what's coming, no interest in what's gone by.

Mr. Emil Friend, under the name of Boerslaner, thinks and writes more ably than any other man in the country on financial affairs. Asked "What are the financial conditions and prospects of France and Germany?" he said that the most interesting and important fact is the close tie between German and French money.

"If the mark goes down," said he, "the franc must go down. France will depend largely for prosperity and money on Germany's ability to pay the idemnity. The United States also is interested, for on Germany's ability to pay France depends French ability to pay to the United States the money borrowed here. The ability of Germany to pay depends on her ability to get raw materials that she may go to work. Nations pay with their labor, not with currency."

This shows what a curious thing war is. To kill the nation next to you, no matter how much you hate that nation, would be like one Siamese Twin killing his brother. The one that kills the other must die with the one killed.

England is borrowing money here at six and a quarter per cent. The richest nation in the world except this, England would not have believed such a thing possible when the war began. Two per cent. was enough for the British government to pay then. There is an ominous drop. The British Empire is a weaker borrower than your corner grocer.

If the coal strike came it would mean disaster to millions of Americans. Senator Frelinghuysen says it would cost the country permanently one billion dollars a year.

The final cost is not as important as the immediate cessation of business, transportation and other necessities. What a burglar takes from your pocket is not as serious as the preliminary blow of the blackjack on your head. It is being knocked senseless before the money is taken that hurts, and does the most harm.

The miners say, perhaps truly, that what they ask is small, compared to what has been taken from the public, without much protest, by owners of mines that do no work.

What shall the country do? Assuming that the miners have justice on their side shall it stand still while the blackjack is applied and allow the country to be knocked senseless that working miners may take from owners of mines what is due them?

It is suggested that the government use soldiers to get out the coal. This seems sensible, however great the sympathy with the demands of half a million miners.

If the government took out the coal while miners went without pay and mine owners without profit, some way might be found to settle the fight between mine owners and mine workers without first hitting the public on the head with a blackjack.

The doctor who has been grafting interstitial glands from young goats on old goats, from young rats on old rats and from monkeys on human beings, said, "Of course you can't make actual experiments of grafting from one human being to another." But he did not know the United States. Here there is more resourcefulness. The problem has been solved by taking interstitial glands from the bodies of men just hanged and implanting them in the bodies of old, feeble prisoners, to see how the scheme would work. The French will be interested to hear that.

The aged prisoner using energies supplied by the glands of freshly executed murderers may feel much younger, but must be a little anxious as to the moral effect. This is certain, nothing that any man invents or tries will make him younger. It may come a little later. Some particular gland may enable a man to be foolish instead of serene at seventy, but there will be no great difference.

To know how knowledge has prolonged life you need only recall the fact that a few centuries back, in one of the biggest cities of France, you would scarcely have found a single individual past fifty years of age.

Disease was everywhere, sewers ran through the open gutters of the streets, there was no such thing as pure water and at the first weakening of the system death came in.
